EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

SENATOR JOHN STEWART is a bigger man than Cameron.

DON'T forget the cost of the extra session. It will soon exceed a half million dollars.

THE N. Y. Sun has concluded that the Republican party not only must but that it did go—to the polls to vote.

THERE seems to be no doubt but that Mississippi has gone Democratic. We more than half suspected this, anyhow.

Is it still Senator Gordon's opinion that the extra session will continue as long as there is any money in the State treasury?

EDITOR MCCLURE of the Times, is jubilant and thinks he can now survive even the recent attack upon him in the Centre Democrat.

How can the Democrats claim New York when the Republicans have elected the Secretary of State and both branches of the Legislature?

THERE seems to be the faint glimmer of an opinion among the critics of New York, that Henry Irving's strongest point as an actor is that he was born in England.

O, YES, the Republican party is going. It started last Tuesday, and will get there in November, 1884. The Democratic party is also going—going to be buried.

THE Republicans of New York elect their Secretary of State by 16,000 majority, and both branches of the legislature, and this is the kind of a "Democratic victory" the Watchman is howling over. But, then, if it affords them any fun we don't care.

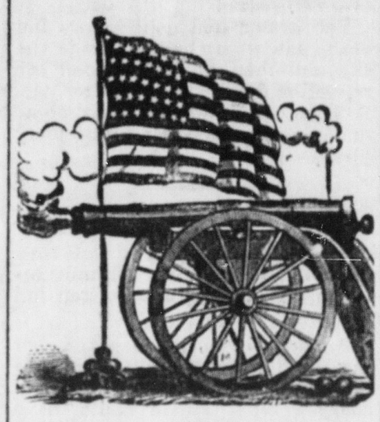
WE do not like the spectacle of the Harvard College flunkies uttering their "Rahs" over Butler's defeat. We are glad he was defeated, but the special warfare waged on him by Harvard was disgusting. He is the equal, intellectually, of the best of them.

IF the people of the United States were unanimously bent on the annexation of Canada to this Republic, they could probably devise no scheme so likely to insure success in that object as the expatriation of the whole body of the Irish people from Ireland to Canada. Annexation would follow as a matter of course.

GENERAL SHERMAN'S expression of his belief that the army would no longer be required for the suppression of Indian outbreaks is quietly followed by a half breed cattle raid near Ford Buford, and an appeal to the military authorities at St. Paul for aid. A cattle raid is very different from an Indian war, but the regular troops are likely to be called upon for some years to come to prevent cattle raids from developing into warfare.

THE rejoicing of the Bourbons in Virginia, in the light of recent occurrences, forms, perhaps, the only unpromising feature of the elections. The fact is now being developed that the riots in that State were at least partially planned by the Bourbons, who felt that their success could be insured only by the inauguration of a war of the races. The introduction into politics of the question of supremacy between whites and blacks can at the best have but a most unwholesome effect, and the party which assumes the responsibility of such an issue, and the troubles arising from it, is not likely to long retain popular confidence, even in a State of such violent prejudices as Virginia.

THE ELECTIONS!



Pennsylvania Stands by Her Colors.

The People's Rebuke to Profligacy.

Democracy Routed from Cape Cod to the Plains.

Cock-a-doo-dle-doo!!

Republican Majorities:

PENNSYLVANIA	21,000
NEW YORK	30,000
MINNESOTA	10,000
MASSACHUSETTS	10,000
CONNECTICUT	7,000
NEBRASKA	5,000

The Republican Victory.

Tuesday, November 6, was a day of triumph for the Republicans of the country. Republican thunder echoed all-around the sky. In the most important elections of the year—elections which show the clear drift and tendency—the Republicans gained significant and inspiring victories.

Pennsylvania takes her position again in the Republican column. The members of that grand old party can congratulate themselves upon a well won victory. In spite of unusual apathy even for an off year, in spite of discouragement from other States, in spite of the most strenuous efforts of their adversaries, they have gained a substantial triumph. The exceptional and temporary Democratic success of last year is blotted out, the 40,000 majority for Pattison has been changed to a majority of 18,000 for Livsey, showing that almost 60,000 people who thought it advisable last year to try the Democrats have altered their opinion and deem it advisable to try them no longer.

The suicidal course of the Democrats in the year that ended with Tuesday, the 6th, has brought this great change about. The policy of the Republicans has recommended itself to the people.

But if this is a great change in Pennsylvania it sinks into insignificance in comparison with that in New York. That State, for reasons which doubtless the Republican masses considered proper to condemn, fell to pieces last year with an adverse majority of nearly two hundred thousand, but it comes right side up this year, and gives Republican majority. What does this tremendous change mean? Why should more than 200,000 people in New York State think differently now than they did in 1882? Carr, the Republican candidate for Secretary of State, has been elected by a substantial majority. Democrats who were elected received majorities ranging only between 4,000 and 5,000. The Republicans have a majority of 27 on joint ballot in the legislature. This is triumph enough for one day.

But, look at Massachusetts! Since the election of Butler the Democrats claimed that State, although we did not allow the claim, considering that it was only Butler's personal popularity that elected him. But, allowing the Democrats' claim to be true, it emphasizes the revolution in that State. Robinson's majority, which is over 10,000 and a majority in the legislature show that the people of the Bay State have decided to vote solidly and regularly for the Republican candidates. Butler's boom is bounced. We would not have been displeased if the result had been different, because it was real entertaining to see the Democrats with this white elephant on hand.

Hurrah, for Connecticut!

In that land of wooden nutmegs and steadly habits there was no occasion for a change in favor of the Republicans, because the people had not transgressed so grieviously, but even there the Republican tidal wave extended, and we find a great increase in the Republican majorities.

Let us complete this list with mention of Minnesota and Nebraska which are both decidedly Republican. But then that result was expected of these two States.

How Democrats can draw any consolation from the election of Tuesday we cannot imagine. The Republicans have every reason to anticipate a victorious fight next year for President. With the electoral vote of the two largest States in the Union ensured Republicans need have no fears as to the result.

Do not cease working, however, but constantly with the voice and wherever possible with the ballot help on the grand result. The rascals must be kept out.

Congress and the Public Domain.

The report of Commissioner McFarland, of the General Land Office, attracted the attention of the Boston Traveler, which calls attention to the fact that the report shows that during the last year there has been more than the average activity in taking up the public domain by settlers and others. Nearly 20,000,000 acres have been disposed of, an increase of more than 5,000,000 acres over last year. The receipt from all sources in connection with the transfer of this land were $11,813,833, an increase over the receipts of last year of $3,319,367. This large transfer of the public domain to private parties cannot be continued many years without exhausting the land held by government which has any value for agricultural purpose, and it is evident that it has become the duty of the government to use greater care than has been observed heretofore in disposing of its lands suitable for settlers. For the purpose of encouraging immigration and the development of our resources, it is more desirable that the best lands yet unoccupied should be in the hands of the government rather than in hands of speculators, and there is little doubt that additional legislation is needed. In view of the fact that large tracts of land have been and still continue to be pre-empted merely for speculative purposes, the Commissioner of Public Lands earnestly advocates the repeal of the pre emption law. It will doubtless be urged that much good has heretofore resulted from the pre-emption system, and though there have been some abuses it should not be discontinued, but it is patent to every one who examines the provisions of the present homestead laws, that the usefulness of the pre-emption system has passed away. It has been possible for speculators to obtain through pre-emption large tracts which they hold for selfish purposes, defeating the intent of the laws under the provisions of which they have secured them. With the repeal of the pre-emption law the homestead law should also be amended so as to require proof of the actual residence and improvement for a period of not less than two years before a homestead may be commuted by cash payment. The timber culture law is doubtless also abused, but the abuses are inherent in the law, and so are probably beyond the reach of administrative methods for their correction. It has been found on a careful investigation that a majority of the entries under the timber culture act are made for speculative purposes, and not for the cultivation of timber. Compliance with the law in these cases is a mere pretence, and does not result in the production of timber. In the past we have been accustomed to regard our public demain as inexhaustible, and, as a consequence, our land policy has been the spendthrift's policy. The time has certainly come to halt, and were it probable that Congress this winter would engage in any other business than that of President making, and were the House majority not a Democratic one, the legislation that is needed might be hoped for, but with the present outlook the present abuses will doubtless be continued for another year.

THE Western Plowman of Moline, Ill., says the Chicago Daily News, has been trying to forestall a nominating convention by drawing from its readers their personal preferences as to presidential candidates. It is claimed that 30,000 responses were received, of which 22 per cent were for Mr. Blaine, 14 per cent Mr. Arthur, 10 per cent for Gen. Butler, 9 per cent for Mr. Tilden, 8 per cent for Mr. Lincoln, and 5 per cent for Gen. Logan. The curious thing about this is that Gen. Butler's strength is almost entirely at the south, and is very largely in the state of Louisiana. Mr. Arthur's strength is at the west, as is also Mr. Lincoln's while Mr. Blaine's stronghold is at the east. Tilden's votes come mainly from Kentucky, while Logan's 5 per cent are from southern Illinois. As Mr. Blaine is out of politics, it is evident his admirers must seek another love in some of the other aspirants. Among other candidates Wade Hampton's vote equals that of John Sherman, while Mr. Conkling is as popular as Gen. Sherman.

A GENERAL feeling of satisfaction prevails among Republicans as to the result of Tuesday's elections. Those who don't believe that our penny-wise pound foolish young governor has made a great success of his pseudo reform administration at Harrisburg, are glad to hear that he has received a rebuke, and all the Republicans rejoice to see that the chances of success in 1884 are brighter than they were. The certain election of Carr in New York, and the possible election of the rest of the Republican ticket, show that New York can be carried by a proper Republican candidate for President; and the defeat of Butler in Massachusetts and the victory of our own State ticket show that Republicans are returning to their allegiance after having tried Democratic reform and found it wanting.

HOLMAN, of Indiana, isn't a bit better looking than Bill English, but he doesn't possess the broad and comprehensive penuriousness of the latter. English will not have any lasting fame as a statesman; but he will thunder down the ages for a long time as the man who declined to use a looking glass while shaving himself, for fear of wearing out its reflective power.

AN Ohio man cribbed one of Henry Ward Beecher's old sermons, gave it a local application, palmed it off as original, and has on hand a $50,000 libel suit entered against him by the man whom he whipped with Beecher's rhetorical lashes. The enterprising pirate is in pretty much the same fix as the man who was kicked over a stone wall by a stolen mule.

Intelligence of Newspaper Readers.

With truly startling unanimity those two reliable (?) newspapers—the Watchman and the Democrat—announce the result of the election in New York in plain, cold, glittering, expressive figures—20,000 Democratic majority. It is supposed that the editors of those newspapers in their youth, both attended the same schools and explored the mysteries of mathematics under the guiding hand of one and the same instructor. Through all the years which intervene from youth to hoary age, in spite of the destroying effects of good old "Bourbon," they remember exactly the rules which governed their arithmetical efforts when they were happy urchins, and in calculating the result of the late election in the Empire State they arrive at the remarkable result quoted above, neither arithmetitian varying one hair's breadth either way. Those who did not study the same text books that developed this strange effect in the gentlemen in question have our sympathy. They are doomed to miss one of the greatest pleasures in creation. By the rules which these gentlemen have mastered any result desired may be produced. Notwithstanding astronomy, reported to be one of the exact sciences, proclaims that the moon is an orb much like our globe these happy gentlemen can demonstrate conclusively that the moon is a huge green cheese and is meant to be eaten by any who can climb that high. Notwithstanding other newspapers—yes, even so rabid a journal as the N. Y. Sun—give vastly different results, these blessed editors can console themselves and comfort their readers with "20,000 Democratic majority."

To show our readers what all the other journals except these two newspapers give as the result of the New York election we quote the figures from reliable authority:

GEN. CARR, Republican candidate for Secretary of State, 28,000 or 30,000.

MR. CHAPIN for Comptroller, 10,000 Democratic majority.

Several minor officers in doubt.

Both branches of the Legislature Republican—Senate, 6 majority; Assembly 20.

The cruel insinuation is made by some that these precious papers publish the figures alluded to mere to deceive their Pennsvalley readers, lest those fair minded denizens of the valley might think that the Republicans have a fair fighting chance in the Empire State next year. But we refuse to believe that the insinuations are not base and unfounded. Our only alternative is to account for it on the basis of peculiar arithmetical rules employed by them, as any other conclusion would impeach the intelligence of their readers, which they at least would not thank us for doing.

THE returns of Tuesday's election places the Republican party of this State in opposition to the reduction of taxation and in opposition to honest, economical and non-partisan government.—Harrisburg Patriot.

The above paragraph is a gratuitous insult to the people of Pennsylvania, for they expressed their will on Tuesday. There are Democrats in Bellefonte who, against their honest convictions, voted their party ticket, but who now acknowledge that the result was the logical sequence of an imbecile administration. Let the Patriot convince the people of the uprightness of the cause it advocates by argument and appeal, if it can. But do not call a majority of the people of Pennsylvania dishonest merely because they differ from you.

NEW "two cent journalism" is receiving a good deal of explanatory treatment in one place and another, some illuminating and some not; but it is really very simple. The problem in journalism has always been to sell the best possible newspapers at the least possible price.

GENERAL NOTES.

Anti-tobacco societies are being formed throughout England.

It is estimated that there are 20,000,000 people of Irish blood in the United States.

One-third of the lord mayors of London, during the past twenty-four years, have been bachelors.

Four years ago the railway mileage in the twelve Southern States was 17,000. It is now 26,000.

The cattle plague is raging furiously in Bessarabia, over 50 per cent. of the flocks being affected.

A "best girl" is to be a necessity at fashionable weddings hereafter to correspond with the groom's "best man."

The underground railway system, which will soon encircle London, is being built at a cost of $15,000,000 per mile.

About 20,000 francs have at last been subscribed for the statue of Hector Berlioz, which is to be erected in Paris.

Prospecting parties are at work in the deserts of Nevada searching for deposits of salt soda, borax and similar minerals.

Jacob Richardson, of Adrian, Michigan, has worked steadily at his trade, cooperage, for sixty-eight years, only losing fifteen days in that time.

An old village lady who had arrived at the advanced age of 92 lost her son, who was 72. "I expected it," she said. "I never thought that I should raise him."

A Cincinnati restaurateur serves up sparrows in twelve different ways, but says that they taste best on toast. His trade in them is small but increasing.

A Detroit detective promises to vanquish anyone who will compete with him in the matter of pie eating, "without regard to sex color, politics, or anything else."

Eighty thousand children in the north of England form the "Dicky Bird Society." They are pledged to protect birds, never to destroy a nest and to feed birds in winter.

Probably the oldest negro in the United States is John Hanning, of Austin, Texas, who is 106 years old. He belonged to Mrs. Hanning, of Alamo Farm, for many years, and took her name on being freed.

At a church fair in White Plains, New York, last Saturday, a prize was offered for a young girl who would come forward and assert that she had declined all invitations to eat ice cream during the summer.

There is a student in Phillips Exeter Academy who either starves himself or else is one the greatest economists on record in the matter of living. He claims to be boarding himself on fourteen cents a day.

Twenty-seven girls in Council Bluffs, by way of reminding their male friends of remissness in the matter of taking them to entertainments, bought seats for the theatre one evening and went in a body, with only a matron for escort.

Two formidable looking torpedoes are now being made at the Ordnance Shop at the Washington Navy Yard. One is the Weeks torpedo and the other the Howard. It is said they are to compete for the $50,000 offered for the best torpedo.

Another "crank" is haunting the White House and making the employes there unhappy. He seems particularly anxious to get an interview with President Arthur, to divulge "important state secrets," but has not yet succeeded in doing so.

The fondness of Captain Arthur Wheatley, of Memphis, Tenn., for field sports is likely to cost him dear. He is off, having a good hunt in the wilds of Arkansas, while Judge Pierce is imposing fines at the rate of $25 a day for his failure to appear as a juror.

A ridiculous and painful error was made by two weekly society papers in London, published on the day of the funeral of the late Earl of Mount Cashell, in announcing the approaching marriage of the venerable peer. They had not observed the notice of his death.

Bodie, California, is a peculiarly fortunate town. Never in its history did it have the pleasure of entertaining two drummers at one time until about three weeks ago, when the appearance of two of those men of commerce on the street was pronounced a "notable event" by the local paper.

A pamphlet by a German officer, which is now attracting much attention in Berlin, says, that in the event of war, France could place in the field 190,000 more infantry and 194 more guns than Germany, but the French officers are not so well trained as the Germans, while the French generals are also inferior to those of Germany as strategists and tacticians.

Mushrooms have been called the "spectres" of the vegetable kingdom, and there is a certain fitness in the suggestion that the truffle should be regarded as the "gnome" of the same territory. It grows and lives some inches under the ground, and pigs and dogs are employed in rooting for it. It is a dish "fit for a king," however when baked in the embers, and, like the potato, "with its jacket on."

After twenty-two years of exile in Siberia the Russian writer Tchernischefski has been allowed to return to his home, to "husband out life's taper at its close." The poor man is now sixty years of age, but it is hardly necessary to say that his long years of exile have made him look more like a centenarian then anything else. He is hardly able to walk and scarcely weighs 100 pounds. Tchernischefski was exiled during the riots of 1862.

Recent experiments made by the physiologist, Paul Bert, go to show that hydrophobia is not caused by the canine saliva, but by the phlegm contained in the bronchial tubes, which may or may not enter the wound together with the saliva. This explains why the bite of a rabid dog is not necessarily fatal. By filtering the foam which forms at the mouth of a dog it has been possible to separate the saliva from the phlegm. The latter, injected into an animal organism, infallibly produces hydrophobia, while the former does not.

Poetry.

BY THE WASHES.

We stood for a little together,
The waters kissing our feet;
Around us glowed glad bright weather;
The morning and you were sweet.

I thought as you stood there dreaming,
'Twas you that lighted the day;
And the water glancing and gleaming
And hurrying ever away,

Vocal with brief light laughter,
As past you it fled to the sea,
Seemed to linger a little and after
I think it agreed with me.

Flushed with the wind and glowing,
Silent you stood awhile,
Hair in the s night blowing,
Smiling a dreamy smile.

The water sang, "Love is a treasure."
"A treasure," my soul replied;
"And the pain of it, and the pleasure,
Sweeter than all beside."

And I saw the wavelets glitter,
Glad but to kiss your feet;
And the wind sang, "Life may be bitter,
But loving can make it sweet."

And laughed and loitered around you,
Surely finding you fair;
And the merry sun kissed and crowned you
Queen of the morning there.

Everything fair seemed to love you,
Seemed proud at your feet to fall;
And the lark, singing high above you,
Sang you were the fairest of all.

And scarcely a word was spoken,
But our souls to each other spoke,
Till the dreamy spell was broken,
And we started and smiled and woke.

And so in the glorious weather,
In the morning blithe and gay,
Happy in being together,
Happily wandered away.

LEFT!

A summer evening—
A low, square room,
One half moon lighted
And half in gloom.

From out the stillness
A girl's voice floats
And charms my soul
With its sad, sweet notes.

The music drew me
With witchery sweet.
To lay my heart
At the singer's feet

I pause a moment
And while I wait,
I hear the latch—
Of the garden gate.

A shadow darkens
The moon lit square;
A touch falls soft
On the girl's bright hair.

A sudden silence—
A startled cry—
And they are happy!

But where am I?

Our Story Teller.

Lost his Place.

BY T. S. ARTHUR.

"I'm very sorry, Mrs. Allison, but we can't take him back." The superintendent spoke kindly but firmly. "If it were his first offense, we might let it pass; but he has given us this trouble too often, and we shall now put a quieter man in his place."

"But it was the drink, Mr. Grant—only the drink!" urged the poor woman.

"There isn't a more peaceable or kindhearted man in all the shop than Jimmy, when he lets drink alone. And you will give him credit for being a good workman?"

"No better workman in the establishment, but the drink we can't stand any longer. That spoils everything."

"You'll give him another trial? Say yes, Mr. Grant!" pleaded the unhappy wife.

But Mr. Grant said: "No, Mrs. Allison; I'm very sorry, but this thing is settled. Your husband must get work somewhere else. We can't have him here any longer."

"Oh, Mr. Grant," cried the wretched woman, her voice rising to a passionate appeal, "just think of his poor old mother! It will break her heart."

"He should have thought of his poor old mother, Mrs. Allison," returned Mr. Grant, with a coldness in his manner that he did not feel. "We cannot take these things into account."

It was all in vain. Mrs. Allison could not move the superintendent, and she left his office, weeping bitterly.

"It is a hard case," said Grant, speaking to his book keeper in a troubled voice. "But we can't have Jimmy Allison in the shop any longer. He will take his glass, and when he gets too much, he grows quarrelsome. There's no better workman, and no better man to be found, if he'd leave off tippling. But for drink he'd be our foreman to-day, instead of a cast-off. His example is bad, and we must remove it. He leads others astray."

"He'll go to ruin, I'm afraid," said the book-keeper.

"Perhaps not. When I pay him off, I shall talk to him, kindly and seriously. And I shall do more."

"What?"

"Give him six months' probation."

"Where and how?"

"I'm thinking it out. Can't see it clear, but it will come to me. Where there's a will there's a way. His poor old mother. That touches me. Ah, the poor old mothers! If young men would but think of them as they should, there would be fewer heartaches at old age."

Mr. Grant had a harder trial still. In her sorrow and despair old Mrs Allison came to the office to plead for her son. He was very kind to her, and tried to make her see that her son's loss of his place might really be the best thing that ever happened to him. But this was impossible. She saw nothing but evil in his going away.

Poor old lady! At seventy, instead of comfort in her latest born, best beloved and only surviving child—her boy, she yet called him fondly, though he was eight and twenty—she had heartaching wretchedness.

"Oh, Jimmy! My poor boy, Jimmy," wailed the mother on coming back from the office, where she had so vainly striven to change the superintendent's purpose; and, putting her arms about the stalwart man, she sobbed and moaned so piteously that he also was moved to tears.

But there was no help for them. The shops were closed to Jimmie Allison, and a week afterward he left home to seek for work in a town fifty miles away, where he had an acquaintance in a rolling mill. Upon the sorrow and grief that fell like a shadow on the hearts of his wife and mother at the moment of parting streamed in a ray of hope.

"I've taken my last glass, mother. My last glass, Jennie. And it will all come out right. I'm sure to get work in S——and then I'll send for you and we'll be happy again."

Mr. Grant was standing at the window of his office looking out.

"There goes Jimmy Allison to the station," he said, turning to the bookkeeper. "Poor fellow! I hope the lesson will be good for him. But I'm afraid."

While Mr. Grant was speaking, he saw Allison stop and stand irresolute for some moments, and then turn and walk quickly toward the office.

"We are to have a parting word—a curse or a blessing," added Mr. Grant in a changed voice. And the office door opened, and Jimmy Allison came in. He did not speak at first, but drew a paper from his pocket, which he opened and handed to the superintendent.

"Oh! a pledge!" said Mr. Grant in a tone of surprise.

"Yes, sir; and what is more, I'm going to keep it," replied Allison, in a firm but subdued voice.

"Stick to that, my man, and all will be well," said the superintendent. "And let me say this to you in parting: if you had let beer and whiskey alone, you might have had a foreman's place here long ago. Nothing has kept you back but drink. For your own sake, and especially for your wife's and good old mother's sake, let it alone."

"I'll do it, sir. You may count on that. Good-bye, Mr. Grant," and the man held out his hand, his face working with the struggle of feelings he could not repress.

"Good-bye, Jimmy," returned the superintendent as he took the man's hand. "Think of me as a friend. It goes hard with me as well as with you. But you left us no alternative. Good-bye! And if all goes right let me hear from you."

Jimmy Allison had no voice to reply. Turning away in silence, he left the office.

"I don't see how you can have the heart to do it," said the book-keeper as the man had gone. "He's taken the pledge, and it's my opinion he'll keep it. Why not give him a chance? I can't get the poor, old, sorrowful face of his mother out of my thoughts for a moment; it haunts me like a ghost."

Mr. Grant did not reply and the book-keeper turned to his desk and resumed his work. A little while afterward, the whistle of the coming train was heard; a few minutes later and Jimmy Allison was borne away from home, wife and mother, on the swift wings of steam, a sadder and wiser man.

The day had worn on drearily to the miserable wife and mother of Allison, the pleasant June sunshine unfelt until the sun had reached the tops of the western mountains, for the shadow of great trouble rested on the little household. Suddenly the wild scream of the locomotive cut the air, and went echoing among the hills; and soon after the down coming train dropped a few passengers at the station, and then went thundering on its impetuous course.

"Mrs. Allison," said a boy who rushed into the room where the two women sat in their helpless, half despair, "here is a letter from Mr. Grant, and he says read it right away."

The startled wife opened with hands that shook nervously, the folded paper and read: "We've telegraphed Jimmy to come back—look for him by the down train."

A wild cry of joy broke from the lips of Jenny Allison: "Oh mother, mother! they've sent for him to come back, and there he is now!"

Springing up and bounding through the door half crazed with joy, she ran through the little garden, and flung herself, laughing and crying, all at once into the arms of her husband.

"We've had a narrow escape, Jimmy, my son," said old Mrs. Allison, after they were all quieted down. "It hurt me away down here, my son"—and she laid her hand over her breast—"hurt me more, may be, than you will ever know."

"Oh, don't say that, mother. But you shall never be hurt again," answered Jimmy, catching his breath with something like a sob. "Never, I've taken the pledge, you know, and when Jimmie Allison puts his name to anything, it's got to stand. The Allisons don't go back on their word of honor."

"I'll trust you, my boy," was the mother's confident reply as the sunshine of gladness fell over her aged face.

"All this happened just one year ago. And has Jimmie Allison kept true to his pledge? More than true; for besides holding true to his own integrity, he has induced a dozen other workmen to follow his example, and is now organizing a temperance society in the shop, where he already holds the position of foreman.

How "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was Published.

John J. Jewett, the original publisher of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," said: "Professor Stowe was in favor of selling the manuscript for a sum down. 'I tell my wife,' said he to me, 'that if she can get a good black silk dress or fifty dollars in money for the story, she had better take it.'"

"Do you believe that you could have bought the story for fifty dollars?"

"I believe I could have bought it for twenty-five dollars."

"So large were the orders for the book that from the day I first began to print it the eight presses never stopped, day or night, save Sundays, for six months, and even then there were complaints that the volume did not appear fast enough. In a little while I was able to inform Professor and Mrs. Stowe that their percentage already amounted to $10,000, and although my contract with them required me to give a note only, I would pay them that sum in cash."

"How did they receive that information?"

"They seemed a little dazed by the news. The sum was vastly beyond anything they expected or had hitherto possessed that it appeared to them like a great fortune. When they called at my office I handed Professor Stowe my check for $10,000, payable to his order. Neither the Professor nor Mrs. Stowe had ever before received a check, they told me, and they did not know what to do with it or how to get the money it represented. I explained to the Professor that he must endorse the check and present it for payment. I advised him to deposit the money in the same bank. We went thither together. I introduced him to the President, and the Professor opened an account. After instructing how to keep his check book and so on, and cautioning him and his wife never to go about with more than $5 in their pockets, I bade them good-day, and they went on their way rejoicing. When I gave them a second check for $10,000 I found they needed no further instructions."

"How many copies of 'Uncle Tom' did you publish?"

"More than 320000 sets of two volumes each were published in the first year. After that the demand fell off"—Chicago Interocean.

Woman's Pluck and Man's Cowardice in a Dentist's Chair.

"No," said the dentist, "I never tell women anything but the truth. If I tell a man an operation may be painful he is apt to find some excuse for delaying it or even dodging it altogether. But a woman would deliberately walk to the chair if she thought her head was to be yanked off. Give me a woman for cool pluck every time."

"But children?"

"It is both wrong and foolish to deceive a child about such things. If he is told he is not to be hurt, he will never take your word again, and will hate you, and resort to almost any means to keep away from a dental office afterward. I always tell a child the operation will hurt a little, but that I will be careful. I can usually play on a child's pride, and make him very brave. If he is handled properly he will train his pluck for the most painful operation, and usually when he is dismissed from the chair he is surprised that the pain has been no more severe. You know the extent of pain, or indeed, of everything, is apt to be measured by comparison with one's expectation of what is to be done."

"You have to deceive men, do you?"

"Yes, generally. They are consummate cowards. Yesterday I made one of my friends pull his own tooth."

"How?"

"He wished me to look at his teeth and tell him what they required, and was very careful to instruct me to do nothing more than to look at them. I found one that could not be saved, and should be extracted at once. I knew if I told him he would not let me take it out, so I slipped the forceps in my pocket when he was not looking, and went on fumbling about his face, occasionally putting a finger into his eye, until he concluded it was safer to keep his peepers closed. By quick and precise work I laid hold of the tooth with the forceps before he knew what was up, but as soon as he felt the pain he grabbed my hand and pushed it away so frantically as to throw the forceps, tooth and all through the window in front of him."

Frank P. Blair.

A monument in memory of Frank P. Blair, Jr., by Missouri admirers, will be unveiled on the 10th of next May, at St. Louis. The front panel bear the inscription "Frank P. Blair, Jr., Born February 19, 1821, Died July 8, 1875," and the rear panel these words: "This monument is raised to commemorate the indomitable free soil leader of the west; the herald and standard bearer of freedom in Missouri; the creator of the first volunteer Union army in the south; the saviour of the state from secession; the patriotic citizen soldier, who fought from the beginning to the end of the war. The magnanimous statesman, who, as soon as the war was over, breasted the torrent of prescription to restore to citizenship the disenfranchised southern people, and finally the incorruptible statesman." The day of the unveiling will be the anniversary of the capture of Camp Jackson.

Some Mormon Statistics.

When Horace Greeley visited Utah one of the stories told him by the Saints was that there were a great many more girl babies than boy babies born in the Territory, and this alleged fact was pointed to as an evidence of Divine approbation of polygamy. It was argued that the Lord showed his approval of polygamy in this way, whereas if He had been offended at it, He would probably have arranged a different proportion of the sexes, so as to make it difficult for a Mormon to get more than one wife. Horace Greeley accepted the statement of fact, but referred it to a physiological rather than a religious explanation. But if it was true twenty-five years ago more girls than boys were born in Utah, it is not so now, for the statistics presented at the Mormon Conference in Salt Lake, Sunday, by Apostle Cannon, included a statement of the number of births within the fold of the church during the last six months, and of these 1,200 were males and 1,100 females. Here is a clear excess of males in six months, which is not an encouraging outlook for polygamy. In the Territory, as a whole, there is an excess of 5,000 males, as shown by the census of 1880. But the best evidence that the proportion of the sexes is not sensibly different in Utah from what it is everywhere else, is found by comparing the tables of population and ages as given in the compendium of the last census. Take, for example, the number of native white males and of females ten years old or under; of the former there are 24 222 and of the latter 23 762. This shows that there is an excess of males in the proportion of about 1 to 20. This is the proportion which statistics show to exist in every part of the world—it is a law of nature that where 20 women are born there shall be 21 men. Nature does not violate this law and create an excess of females to show her approval of polygamy.

He Felt Kinder Gone.

He had just got his oyster shop opened to the public the other day when in came a man who asked:

"Got any raws?"

"Yes, sir."

"Serve 'em on half shell?"

"We do."

"Extra large?"

"We have some of the largest oysters I ever saw."

The price was asked and given, and as it seemed to be satisfactory, the man ordered a dozen, adding:

"I've got a slight contraction of the muscles of the throat, and sometimes I choke. If anything happens to me, run me to the door where I can get the air, and then rush for a drink of water."

The caterer promised to observe the caution, but it was only when the twelfth and last oyster was taken in between two rows of teeth, which stood out like ten-penny nails, that anything happened. Then the eater suddenly raised one leg, his eyes bulged out, and he began to skip around like a goat dodging a club. The choke had come. The caterer seized him by the arm and ushered him to the door, and then hurried to the rear end of the restaurant for a glass of water. When he returned with it, half expecting to see the customer lying on the floor in the agonies of suffocation, no one was in sight. The man was not in the door, nor at the door, nor around the door. He was two blocks away, and the twelfth oyster had gone down to keep the company of the other eleven.

Just exactly another such thing won't happen in that place again.

Doing Up Men's Linen.

A husband complained that his shirt bosoms and collars were badly done up, and the case was referred to a knowing shirt-maker, and his answer was well worthy the attention of house-keepers.

"Yes," said the man, "the fault is with your laundress. While doing up your collars, she stretches them the wrong way. Damp linen is very pliable, and a good pull will alter a fourteen inch into a fifteen inch collar in the twinkling of an eye. She ought to stretch them crosswise, and not lengthwise. Then in straightening out your shirt bosom she makes another mistake of the same sort. They also ought to be pulled crosswise instead of lengthwise particularly in the neighborhood of the neck. A lengthwise pull will draw the front of the neck band somewhat under your chin, where it was never meant to go, and of course it spoils the set of your collar. With the front of your neck band an inch too high, and your collar an inch too long, you have a most undesirable combination."

The necessary changes were made in the methods of laundry, and all was right with shirts and collars.

"Yes," the tall, thin passenger admitted, "a crying baby is indeed a sore trial. But then you must remember that the baby cannot swear, and when a human being is being dandled up and down on the loose end of a two-inch safety-pin, it's got to do something, and if it can't swear it must holler." And the jury was only out two minutes and came in with a verdict for defendant.

"Jakey," cried Mrs. Rosenberg, as she discovered twenty-five letters in her son's bureau drawer, "here vas all dese letters I gif you since last spring to put the mail-box derein! Vy for haf you forgot dem?" "So hellup me, I don't forget 'em!" replied Jakey, "I been vaitin' for dot 2 cent bostage."

Something New.

Denver Tribune.

A pair of embroidered, fancy-looking suspenders hung in front of a Michigan avenue store yesterday, and a young farmer halted to examine them.

"Something new?" he asked as the proprietor came out.

"Shust oudt, my frendt. Dose ish patent suspenders."

"Are you the sole agent?"

"I vhas. Dot patent came oudt about two weeks ago, and my brudder in New York sends me a shob lot yesterday. You can't buy 'em no place else."

"They don't look very strong."

"What! If you can preak dose suspenders by shumping over nine fences I gif you ten bairs."

"I wonder how they'll wear?"

"Shust like iron. Here ish a pair of dot patent," he replied as he unbuttoned his vest, "dot I haf worn over two years!"

The farmer had gone before the dealer saw where he had made the slip, and then he looked after the retreating figure and mused:

"I guess I letder patent part alone und go in heafy on der embroidery peesness!"

All Sort.

Some men are so lucky that they couldn't fall overboard without being pulled up with their pockets full of fish.

A Baltimore woman asked her husband for money and he cut her with a razor. That was about as sharp a reply as he could have made.

The Turkish woman is marriageable at the age of nine years. In this country girls don't even think of marriage until they get to be over ten.

"Pap, what's a sovereign?" "It is a ruler." "A ruler! just wait until the next time the schoolmiss wants to lick me with a ruler—I'll tell her to drop that sovereign."

An exchange speaks of "a vegtable acrobat," but it is not what the boy calls a "turn up." If there is an acrobat in the floral kingdom, it must be the "Johnny jump up."

"Excuse me," said a polite citizen to a colored man. "I didn't kick you on purpose." "No, sah, kicked me on the shin, sah. 'Scuze yer dis time, but don't git in de habit ob it, sah."

"Yes," said the mother, "Mary married a young man from the old country because her father would not buy her a seal-skin sacque. She said she was bound to have fur on her this winter."

When you ask the old gentleman how his daughter is coming on, and he irascibly snaps back at you, "Well enough," take our advice and let well enough alone.

A fashion paper says "kittens' heads are to take the place of birds' heads on the coming bonnet." The first thing we know some woman will be carried to the hospital with a fractured skull. Some absent-minded husband will sling a bootjack at the kitten's head.

The other day a Philadelphia man quarreled with a Boston man and exchanged cards, as they thought, but the Boston man's card was one which he had picked up in John L. Sullivan's saloon, and had Sullivan's name on it in big letters. The Philadelphia man by mistake had given his foe a free ticket, on which was inscribed, "Admit one. Buffalo Bill." To-day Philadelphia and Boston have two of the most scared fellows in the country.

Slugger Sullivan's Poor Pitching.

St. Louis, Nov. 4.—John L. Sullivan, slugger, of Boston, pitched for a picked team to day, which had the St. Louis Club as an opponent. John L. was knocked out, his nine losing by 15 to 3. There was something over five thousand persons in attendance, and as Sullivan received six per cent of the gate receipts, or nearly $1 500, the afternoon's work proved quite profitable. Sullivan will give boxing exhibitions here on Monday and Tuesday nights and then he and his company leave for California.

A Disastrous Tornado.

Special to the Altoona Tribune.

North Springfield, Mo., Nov. 5.—A hurricane about 200 yards wide passed through the northern part of this place at 2 15 to-day. From sixty to seventy houses were totally destroyed and as many more partly wrecked, including the large woolen mill. Three persons are known to be killed and from twenty to thirty wounded. D. C. Henshey.

Gave Himself Up.

Milford, Pa., Nov. 5.—John Greening, who was charged by the coroner's jury with the murder of A. Cheever has been lodged in jail here. When Officer Benjamin Bennett went to Greening's home Greening was out hunting, but as soon as the latter heard he was wanted he came to Milford and offered himself up voluntarily. He protests his innocence and is very much broken down.

Fatal Accident.

St. Albans, Vt., November 5.—A passenger train on the Missenquoi road was thrown from the track this morning by a misplaced switch. Fred Hanner, fireman, was killed and Thomas Flood probably fatally injured. There is evidence to prove that the switch was opened by Ed. Ellis, a brakeman, who had been forbidden to ride on the train without a pass.

Finding his Daughter Alive.

Washington, N. J., Nov 4.—In 1860 a man named Dykeman was Captain of a canal boat on the Erie Canal. In 1861 he made a long sojourn in New York, during which his wife and family, as heard and believed, were drowned at Catasauqua, Pa., while on the canal, during a freshet. He went to California, where he made considerable money. Lately he has been in the United States secret service. Some time since he met a man from New Jersey who had known him prior to 1860. This man happened in conversation to refer to his daughter as yet living and on the canal in New Jersey. Convinced by his friend's story that at least his daughter Josephine was alive, Mr. Dykeman obtained leave of absence for three months and came East.

After searching for some time along the Morris and Essex Canal he found his daughter, who is now Mrs. Schuman of this place. He convinced her that he was her father, and as he found her poor, he told her to pick out a house in Washington in which she would like to live. She chose a house belonging to Major Gaylord. Her father at once went to Gaylord, asked his price, and on learning it was $2 500, he at once bought the house. Afterward he bought adjoining property for $6,000. He bade his daughter to consider the place her home. He says he may conclude to stay in Washington and engage in business here.

Great Excitement in Virginia.

Richmond, Nov. 5.—The excitement here during the past few days has been intense, particularly so since the riot in Danville last Saturday. While a collision between whites and blacks in Richmond is not very likely, yet the feeling is such that it will require but slight hostile movement to precipitate a riot in which much blood would be shed. The whites are making every preparation. The members of the First Virginia regiment are under orders from Mayor Carrington to hold themselves in readiness for any emergency, and one hundred and fifty special policemen have been sworn in for duty to-morrow. In anticipation of further disturbance at Danville, and upon representations made to him Governor Cameron this evening issued orders for the Richmond Light Infantry Blues and a section of the Richmond Howitzers to proceed to that city to-night under command of Major Carter, who, upon his arrival in Danville, will assume command of all the military there. He will report to the mayor and city sergeant of Danville.

A Forger Quickly Caught.

Columbia, Nov. 4.—A forged check for $180 was passed here yesterday on the Columbia National Bank by David W. Weidler, a printer, employed at the office of the Harrisburg Telegraph. The person whose names was forged was that of David W. Witmer, a wealthy farmer, residing near this place, who is a director of the bank and a relative of the forger. The check was made payable to David W. Winston, a fictitious personage. The forgery was discovered before the culprit had gone far from the bank. He was pursued and brought back to the latter place, after some resistance, and then handed over to a policeman Mr. Witmer was notified of the occurrence and for family reasons became the forgers' bondsman until the latter can have a hearing before a Justice of the Peace. The affair will probably be settled by a compromise, as all of the money was recovered.

President Arthur Corrects an Error.

Washington, November 6.—There is the best authority for saying the article published last Sunday in the Washington Capital and widely telegraphed from this point which professed to give President Arthur's views, was produced without information from him, and that, the statement that he is of the opinion that New York is hopeless for the republicans next year is the reverse of truth. The president is anxious to see the bourbons overthrown in Virginia and believes New York will be a republican state in 1884. So much of the article in question as related to the president's views about Virginia is not far out of the way. That about New York and Indiana was entirely erroneous.

Gas Works Burned.

Mauch Chunk, Pa., Nov. 6.—The gas works at this place were destroyed by fire to-day and a dwelling near by was partly burned. Two firemen were badly burned and injured and an inmate of the dwelling house, who was sick with typhoid fever, died soon after being removed. To-night our streets are in total darkness. About two weeks will be required to repair the damage.

Catholics to Honor Luther.

Berlin, Nov. 6.—Dr. Dollinger, president of the Royal Academy at Munich and leader of the Old Catholics, writes that the Old Catholics may take part in the festivities on Saturday next in honor of Martin Luther apart from religious grounds, because he did so much for the language, letters and education of the country as to deserve the everlasting thanks of all Germans.

A German writing in one of the Berlin papers of his campaigns gives the following iteresting item: "In this battle we lost the brave Captain Schule. A cannon ball took off his head. His last words were: 'Bury me where I fell.'"

Eagleville Echoes—A Plea to be Made a Borough.

MR. EDITOR: Eagleville is a pretty place, with beautiful green trees bordering each street and extending far into the suburbs. The hand of enterprise is giving a more cozy appearance to her residences. Her streets are broad and well laid out. Her church buildings compare favorably with those elsewhere in the county. Her school houses are commodious and her teachers good. Her natural surroundings may be enumerated as follows: On one side are the famous Bald Eagle creek and Muncy and Nittany mountains. Beech Creek, made historic by the legends of old hunters, bounds it on another. Little Marsh creek ripples gaily along in another direction. To the west it is bounded by the setting sun.

Her mechanics are first-class workmen. Society, as in other places, is good, bad and indifferent. The people generally are at peace with the world, the flesh and the devil. The population, including men, women, children and travelers, numbers about 600. We have everything in abundance that we can desire except more offices. Many of us are longing for office. In fact, we have been standing candidates for "lo, these many years," and we are beginning to chafe slightly in the harness. Our anxiety concerning this matter increases. True, many of us would have been elected to some office, but for the fact that we did not have votes enough and the other fellows were elected. However, there is one resort left us—we go for it as for the last ditch. It is: Let us have our little paradise incorporated into a borough. Do you see—there is a chief burgess, town council, high constable and other honorable offices too tedious to enumerate. Our taxes wont be increased more than one half and there will be only a few miles of sidewalk to construct. To be made a borough is our pet idea.

LATROBE.

The Tunnel.

The Collins' who have the big tunnel contract between the two Moshannons, on the Beech Creek, Clearfield and South-western railroad, says the Clearfield Republican, pierced the mountain about midnight, on the night of the 30th of October. A telegram from Jersey Shore to the Philadelphia Times, says: "The tunnel is about 1,300 feet long, and the heading on the east end was commenced on the 24th of June and that on the west end on the 27th of July. No work was done on Sundays during the progress of the entire work. It will take about six weeks to complete the grading of the tunnel. General Magee, the general contractor, is rapidly pushing the entire line to completion. This road branches off at Jersey Shore from the Pine Creek and Jersey Shore Road, which connects the Reading and New York Central systems. It runs into the bituminous coal region of Clearfield and adjacent counties, and will make a new outlet east and west by the Reading and New York Central Roads for the shipment of bituminous coal." No one would be surprised if it had taken the contractors until the first of next July to have bored daylight through this gigantic spur of the Allegheny mountain. But the work is done to the satisfaction of all engaged in the enterprise. This incident will hurry on the road all along the line and it cannot be long before the new coal fields in our county will be booming.

—The following item concerning the first apple tree and the first cherry tree in Pennsvalley is from the Centre Hall Reporter:

The first apple tree planted in Pennsvalley, over 100 years ago, is still to be seen, at least it was two years ago. This tree is on the old David Miller homestead, in Haines township, about 2½ miles east of Aaronsburg, the premises now occupied by Benjamin Stover. This tree was planted by the great-grandfather of the Stover family now so numerous in that section. It grew to immense proportions and many years ago, says a reliable informant who lived near there, it yielded 80 bushels of apples. In one season alone there were made four barrels of cider from the fruit of this tree and there were apples enough left to furnish the winter supply for the family. The tree is described as of the proportions of a large willow, with long drooping branches, which in favorable seasons were almost a solid mass of fruit. The first cherry tree planted in this valley was brought through the narrows from Union county, on horse, over the trail or path before a wagon road was made, by the ancestor of the present Harter family.

CALL AND SEE US.

THE MINISTER WHO FAILS to interest his congregation and build up his church is generally accused of being a poor preacher, or of not studying hard enough. That is not always where the trouble comes from. Dyspepsia and liver disorders are responsible for many a dull sermon and many a vacant pulpit. When the Dominie's digestive apparatus is working wrong and his nerves are giving him pain, and his brain refuses to do its duty, it is almost impossible to make or to preach a good sermon. Give your suffering minister a bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters. You will see its effect on next Sunday's preaching. The Rev. Mr. Zehring, of Codoras, Pa., was paralyzed, and could not walk except with crutches, until Brown's Iron Bitters made a new man of him. The Rev. Mr. White, of Rock Hill, S. C., says: "It restored me to strength and vigor." Brown's Iron Bitters is not only for the minister, but for all people. 5

How Watch Cases are Made.

Most persons have an ambition to carry a gold watch case, and yet few people know how a watch case is made, or the vast difference in the quality of them. In a SOLID GOLD WATCH CASE, aside from the necessary thickness for engraving and polishing, a large proportion of the metal is needed only to stiffen and hold the engraved portions in place, and supply strength. The surplus is not only needless, but undesirable, because gold is a soft metal and cannot furnish the stiffness, strength and elasticity necessary to make the case permanently strong and close-fitting. The perfect watch case must combine gold with some metal that will supply that in which the gold is deficient. This has been accomplished by the James Boss' Gold Watch Case made by us, which saves the WASTE of needless gold, and INCREASES the SOLIDITY and STRENGTH of the case, and at the same time reduces the cost ONE HALF.

Send 2 cent stamp to Keystone Watch Case Factories, Philadelphia, Pa., for handsome Illustrated Pamphlet showing how James Boss' and Keystone Watch Cases are made.

A Machinist Killed.

SHENANDOAH, Nov. 7.—William Wagner, assistant foreman of the Reading Coal and Iron Company's repair shops at Pottsville, was killed this afternoon at Knickerbocker colliery, near here. Mr. Wagner had charge of a gang of men engaged in putting up a large engine at that colliery, and the work being completed a trial was made this afternoon. Everything appeared to work satisfactorily. Foreman Wagner was making a general examination of the machinery when a terrific report was heard. Six or eight carpenters who were working in the building rushed into the engine room to see what happened. Not a vestige of the heavy fly wheel, which had burst, was to be seen On the floor lay Mr. Wagner, bleeding and dying. One of his legs was cut off and his head and face terribly mutilated. He was immediately picked up and carried out of the room, but died in the arms of his companions. A carpenter named Schultz was struck by a piece of the wheel, but not seriously hurt. Large pieces of the fly-wheel were hurled through the building, which was considerably damaged. The foundation of the engine was destroyed. The accident caused great confusion. Many of the employes believed an explosion had occurred in the mine Mr. Wagner was but twenty-six years of age and only recently married He was an expert machinist. His father, Benjamin Wagner, is one of the oldest engineers on the Reading Road. Samuel Wagner a brother of the deceased, is assistant master mechanic at Palo Alto. What caused the accident is unknown. Different theories are advanced. Some attribute it to a flaw in the iron. An investigation will be made. Wagner's remains were placed in an ambulance was on and taken home at Port Carbon. He leaves a wife and one child.

A State House Falls.

MADISON, Wis, Nov. 8.—The entire roof, together with the inside walls and iron and stone columns of the new south wing of the capitol fell this afternoon, causing the following casualties: Barney Higgins and William Edgar, instantly killed; William Jones, skull fractured, dying, James Darrell, both legs broken, will probably die;—Rhodes, badly injured; James Kelly, leg broken and body injured; Miles Maxwell, injured in the head; Ed. Barnes, of Madison, badly injured; Arthur Lynch, of Chicago, Mike Swank, of Madison, badly injured.

LATER.—The cause of the accident is somewhat uncertain, but the most plausible theory is that the heavy iron pillars supporting the roof of the second story balcony sank into the packs on which they rested, thus pulling the sound wall outward, which in turn caused the roof of the entire wing to cave in. These columns were made of large pieces of boiler iron rolled into circular form, stove pipe fashion, the joinders not being bolted together. Michael Zewark and William G. Jones died after being taken out, William Rhodes and Patrick O'Laughlin are probably fatally injured. The other injured are William Juneze, Edward Bohn, Edward and Jere Pace, badly; Edward Kingsley, William Burke, Edward Kenzella, Cyrus Schenck, Henry Diedrics, Edward Barmer, Nelson Bass, Patterey and Edward Gleason. The report that—Rhodes, James Kelly and Edward Barnes were injured is incorrect.

A Big Sale of Steel Rails.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The agitation in steel rail circles culminated to day in the sale of 125,000 tons at $35, showing a decline of $2 a ton. The Missouri Pacific, Wabash and Pacific, Louisville and Nashville and the Pennsylvania were the chief purchasers. The New York Central and Erie are not in the market American pig iron is better, inasmuch as 50 per cent. of the producing capacity has been shut down No 1's now $20 50 and $21 50.

Honors to a Hebrew Philanthropist

RAMSGATE, Nov. 8.—To-day being the birthday anniversary of that distinguished Jewish philanthropist, Sir Moses Montefiore, a grand celebration was arranged at this seaside resort. It was a public holiday to all the work people in the district, and the town was filled with eminent Jews from all parts of England and many parts of the Continent. Sir Moses, who, despite his 90 years, still looks hale and hearty, received the most prominent of the visitors early in the day at his residence on the side of Ramsgate Hill. Sir Nathaniel Rothschild represented the great banking house, and among others who attended were Sir David Salmons, Mr. Mocatta, Sir Julian Goldsmidt, and Mr Goschen. The Mayor and corporation afterward waited upon the venerable patriarch, and they were quickly followed by deputations from schools, churches, and the public bodies of the neighborhood, all coming in state, and many headed by bands. A procession of thousands of school children, carrying flowers, sang some hymns outside of the residence of Sir Moses, who sent his cordial thanks to them for their kindly greetings. Her Majesty the Queen sent a telegram early this morning congratulating the aged baron in warm terms on the attainment of his centennial birthday. The Prince of Wales and Premier Gladstone also sent congratulatory messages. Sir Moses founded a Jewish college in Ramsgate in 1867.

A Student's Night of Peril.

BOSTON, Nov. 9.—Henry C Osgood, a student of Williston Seminary, East Hampton, had a frightful experience on Wednesday night. Osgood and two of his chums went up on the mountain in the afternoon and in the evening they attempted to make a short cut by coming down at a point where the mountain is very steep and rocky. In doing so Osgood lost his foothold and slid down some forty feet on the loose stones, but caught a twig just in time to escape death by going over the precipice. His friends could do nothing for him without help. So building a fire that their rescuers might find them, one remained to encourage him to hold on while the other student went to the village for help. Men went to the mountain with ropes and before morning Osgood was released from his perilous position.

An Explanation of the Danville Riot.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3.—The Press to-morrow will print a statement of the situation in Virginia and an account of the murders at Danville gathered by Frank A. Burr, the well known writer upon its staff. The writer says that upon information gathered from leading men bitterly opposed to Mahone it is apparent that on Saturday night while the negroes were purchasing their marketing for Sunday a personal quarrel between a white and colored man was taken advantage of in the inflamed state of public mind, and the whites assuming that it was of a political nature began an indiscriminate firing upon the blacks. The article says that the assailants agree that several negroes were killed and twenty one wounded, but that the testimony is abundant that more than twice that number were killed and wounded.

Four Persons Killed by a Falling Building.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 9.—A large four-story frame building owned by Jacob Dold, and in course of construction as a cooper shop and packing house, was blown down by a gale of wind this afternoon. There were twelve men working on the building at the time and all were buried in the ruins. When assistance arrived they were taken from the debris. The following were found to have been killed: Jacob Schoenthal, William Eckert, John Otto and Joseph Grodel. Charles Trintley had his jaw broken and received internal injuries which will probably prove fatal Seven other workmen were seriously injured.

The Hill-Sharon Suit.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8—Aggie Hill, who is suing Senator Sharon for divorce and a division of property, refused in court this morning to produce the alleged marriage contract until informed by the judge that if she did not it would be ruled out as evidence and only regarded as waste paper. She then produced it. Senator Sharon, after seeing it, denounced it as a forgery in such indignant terms that the judge ordered him to be removed from the court room. The document will remain in the possession of the clerk of the court until a large photograph is taken.

A Public Hall Tumbles Down.

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 9.—At Laurensburg, in this state, to day, while a gathering of colored people was in McLean's hall, the floor gave away, which was followed by the walls tumbling down. A wild scene of excitement ensued, and after all had been extricated from the ruins it was found that eight persons had been injured, two mortally.

Excitement at New Haven.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 9.—Considerable excitement is being caused in this city in consequence of the many cases of forgery in attaching the names of endorsers to applications for liquor licenses. The prosecuting attorney is conducting the investigations and it is believed that a peculiar state of affairs will soon be developed.

Remembering Luther.

BERLIN, November 10.—Last night the church bells rang out to remind the city that the great Luther commemoration would take place today. Flags were reared on all the roofs and shops. Both great and small combined gratitude to the reformer with a desire to earn an honest penny by exhibiting his portrait in their windows. At 8 o'clock this morning all the school children, numbering 8,000, went in fifty-three divisions, each headed by a band, to attend a short service at the churches, where busts of Luther, decorated with flowers, stood before each alter. A choir and a band on the high tower of the town hall rendered "Ein feste Burg" and other Lutheran hymns.

During the ceremonies here today a telegram was received from the crown prince Frederick William expressing his regret at his absence, and another from Professor Mach, of Prague, who sent greetings in the name of his colleagues of the German University of Prague. At the official banquet in the afternoon Herr von Gossler proposed the health of the Emperor William and Superintendent Rothe read a telegram from the Earl of Shaftsbury, saying that Protestant England united in commemorating the great German. In the evening the Te Deum was sung opposite the memorial. The town was brilliantly illuminated. The statue is nine feet and weighs fifty hundred weight. The Emperor William, the Crown Prince Frederick William, Prince Frederick Charles, the principal generals of the army and other distinguished personages were present at the services in the St. Nicholas church commemorative of the life of Luther to day

A Tannery Burned.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 11.—A fire was discovered last night in the drying room of the extensive tannery of James Callery & Co., in Allegheny The building was of frame, and surrounded by large bark sheds. Before the fire engines could arrive the flames were beyond control, and at half-past 12 o'clock the whole structure, with an immense amount of bark, was destroyed. Eight brick dwelling houses were also totally destroyed, and eight others badly damaged. A number of men were at work in the picking department of the tannery, when the fire was discovered. They escaped with difficulty; they can assign no cause for the fire. The building was heated by steam and the nearest fire was in the engine house, which was separated from the main building. The loss on the tannery and dwelling houses, which were also owned by Callery & Co., is $125 000. The insurance is $75,000 in home and foreign companies. Callery & Co.'s tannery was destroyed by fire once before, a few years ago.

A School-Boy with a Pistol.

HOBOKEN, N. J., Nov. 9.—A boy of thirteen, named Joseph McGinness, a pupil of public school No. 1, was so unruly this morning that the principal summoned the janitor to eject him. When Patrick Halloran, the janitor, arrived the boy warned him on pain of death not to touch him. Halloran, disregarding the threat, collared the lad, who produced a revolver and aimed it at the janitor. He was quickly disarmed and lodged in a cell at the police station.

An Old Defender Dying.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 11.—Colonel Elijah Strausbury, one of the few survivers of the Old Defenders association, composed of those who took part in the battle of North Point, in 1812, is reported to-night to be dying from general debility and old age, he being in his 96th year. At the last annual celebration of the association in September, when only six members assembled at the city hall, Strausbury was unable to be present. He was mayor of Baltimore from 1849 until 1851.

A Burglar Shot by a Banker.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 11.—The residence on Lincoln avenue of Mr H. M. Choate, paying teller of the Seaboard bank, at 18 Broadway, was entered by a burglar Friday night through the bathroom window. Mrs. Choate first discovered the intruder and called out: "There is a man in the room." Mr. Choate then went into the bathroom, and, seeing the man escaping through the window, fired, the shot taking effect in the fugitive's back. The dead body of the burglar was subsequently found in the yard near the grape arbor. There was evidently an accomplice, who escaped. Mr. Choate gave himself up to the authorities, but was promptly released on $500 bail, and was at his business as usual yesterday afternoon.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS

The New System of Time.

Among the most absurd innovations of the present century we consider that the new scheme of counting from 1 to 24 o'clock takes the lead. The Altoona Tribune thinks differently, however, and gives the following in regard to the effect the change will have in that city:

The new system of keeping time, adopted by the Pennsylvania railroad company, it is announced, will go into effect on the 18th instant. As the railroad company makes the time for Altoona, we suppose the change will be accepted here from the start. The town clock will have to be altered so it will continue on striking the hours of the day in numerical order after 12 at noon. It will seem queer to hear the old bell pealing forth 23 and 24 taps just when one feels like sleeping, but we guess we can get used to it. One good thing will be effected by the new system. There will be no a. m.'s and p. m.'s, the hour given indicating the hour of the day without the additional information as to whether it means morning or evening. Clocks and watches are now being constructed with dials containing the 24 hours of the day, and no doubt they will soon come into general use. The change will have some disadvantages however. When a fellow goes home at twenty-four o'clock he will feel like the wickedest man in town, and if he even stays out until 23 o'clock he will realize the fact that he has nearly exhausted the time table. The wee small hours will hold their old place and will be as popular in the future as in the past. The Pennsylvania railroad company has made up its mind to revolutionize the system of keeping time in the United States, and it is fair to presume, that the attempt has been made, only after satisfying itself that the change will be an improvement. There may be a kick at first, but the whole country will come around to it in a few years, and forget about the old way. The Pennsylvania company has introduced many great improvements in the way of doing things, but this is one of the most important.

—Miss Minnie Wilkinson, the accomplished daughter of Mr. W. H. Wilkinson, arrived home on Tuesday, the 6th, after an absence extending through the past summer, part of which time was spent with friends in New Jersey.

—The Bellefonte gentlemen who were in Williamsport on Friday examined into the workings of the Edison electric light in that city with the view of putting the same mode of illumination in use in this place.

—The town was full of people on Saturday evening and about every second man we met was full of—oh, well never mind what it was; but he couldn't walk straight and shouted a good deal.

—A man was brought from Philipsburg to this place on Friday and lodged in jail.

—There was excitement outside of a Curtin street dwelling one evening recently. The lady of the house and the maid of all work were the only occupants of the house which was tightly secured from all intrusion. But there was an article outside the house which it was necessary to secure. Each of the females was afraid to venture out alone, so they rallied forth together. The mistress held the lamp while the maid ventured out for her in search of the article. But the street door closed violently and the dead latch sprung, barring both of these frightened females out. They chased around and around the house vainly trying to get in and at last succeeded in forcing open one of the outside blinds and thus securing admission. The time thus spent was only 10 minutes, but it seemed like an hour.

—Politicians feel free after they have discharged their duty of voting. Several of them left on Tuesday, immediately after visiting the polls, for a trip to the mountains and will spend several days hunting. We understand that the hunters in this place joined a similar party from Boalsburg.

—Hurry up with the bridge and the trenches or cold weather will stop operations entirely.

SPICES.—The best cook in the land cannot cook successfully without pure, fresh spices. These we have in every variety. Remember this when Thanksgiving approaches. Well-seasoned food adds to long life and happiness.

SUGARS AND MOLASSES.—In Sugars and Molasses we have all the best brands in the market. Much of the sugar that is sold is adulterated, and in an article of this kind there is great waste. We buy from reliable dealers, and handle only the genuine goods.

TEAS AND COFFEES.—A Thanksgiving or Christmas breakfast cannot be thoroughly enjoyed without a good cup of coffee or tea. A drink of this kind is stimulating and goes right to the spot. Our Coffees and Teas are fresh and strictly pure. The fragrant odor which escapes from the steaming pot as it comes in from the kitchen will convince you of this. We sell more coffee than any other two houses in the county. Why? Because we sell the best and the people know it.

NUTS, CONFECTIONERY, ETC.—In Nuts and Confectionery we have everything that is nice and just what will please the young folks, and old folks as well. Our candies are all pure and wholesome; We do not handle the highly colored, poisonous mixtures that ruin and decay the teeth. We have new Florida oranges (this fall's crop), fine Figs and Prunes, and a choice line of Canned Fruits and Preserves. Bear this in mind when preparing to Celebrate the merry holidays.

We make special mention of the above lines of goods because they are all leading articles at this season of the year. In other lines our stock is equally fresh and complete.

We have no empty shelves and no empty boxes piled up for display.

We buy the Best Goods and sell at the Lowest Figures.

Call in and inspect our No. 1 goods. Then you will know where to purchase when your cupboard needs replenishing.

In and Out of Andersonville.

It was a delighted audience that met in Humes' Hall Wednesday night, where those present were treated to a grand description of scenes in the late war, and especially of prison life, by Mr. Frank W. Smith. The lecture began at 8:20, and for two hours and twenty minutes Mr. Smith held the audience in wrapt attention, as he portrayed pictures of the thrilling incidents which came under his notice, and the experience of the "Boys in Blue" while guests of the Boys who wore the Gray. The illustrations drawn with chalk on the blackboard elicited hearty laughter from the audience. Plans of the prison pen, places about it, and the methods of escape were all illustrated on the board. A glowing tribute was paid to the G. A. R. boys who were present in large numbers; among them were several ex-prisoners of war. The stage was beautifully decorated with stacks of arms, flags, and camp equipments which were kindly loaned by the G. A. R. Post and Co. B. Prof. Belford read Tennyson's "Charge of the Light Brigade," which was received with enthusiasm and continued applause. The manner in which this was rendered has won laurels for Mr. Belford. Mr Smith followed with his Charge of the Mule Brigade, which closed the lecture. The audience retired with many expressions of satisfaction.

—The Strohl Family entertainment on Saturday evening was very fine. Some of the most marvelous musical feats were performed by them that have ever been attempted in this borough. A little two-and-a half year-old child yawning and almost half asleep appeared on the stage vigorously beating a tenor drum. All the applause that the audience could give failed to attract that sleeping infant back again. A lady played a clarionet and the cymbals and beat a drum all at the same time. She is a complete brass band in herself. All the members of the family are splendid musicians and if they ever return to Bellefonte the audience will be much larger than it was on Saturday.

—We hear it stated (although contradicted by some) that the bridges across Spring creek on High street will be torn away this week while the iron superstructure of the new bridge is being put down and that communication between East High street and West High street will be interrupted for four or five days. Then people will be obliged to go around either by Lamb street or by Valentines' railroad. It is possible, however, that by completing one side of the bridge before work is commenced on the other this great nuisance may be avoided.

—Among the "General Notes," published elsewhere, it is stated that a student of Phillips Exeter Academy supports himself on 14 cents per day, or 98 per week, and the fact is considered remarkable. We can beat that in Centre county, for we have heard students of Pennsylvania State College say that they can board themselves on 90 cents per week, or less than 13¼ cents per day, and live well, the said students now being prosperous business men. Pennsylvania State College takes the cake as a desirable and economical place for ambitious young men to secure a first-class education.

—For several days past a corps of engineers been engaged in surveying a route through Huntingdon county, it is said, of the new Vanderbilt railroad. Thus far they have met with little opposition from owners of lands through which their line passes. Thursday, however, while passing over the land of John McCahan, just opposite Huntingdon, they encountered considerable difficulty. The stakes which had been fixed in the ground were removed and every vestige of their line effaced. It is claimed by Mr. McCahan that no permission had been given them to enter his lands.

Cheap Excursions to Florida.

The passenger department of the Pennsylvania railroad company makes the announcement that round trip tickets to Jacksonville, Florida, have been placed on sale at the principal stations and city offices on their system. These tickets permit purchasers to use them for the return trip at any time prior to May 31, 1884. The use of the same, both going and returning, is subject to certain restrictions, the particulars of which may be had of ticket agents, who will also give information as to trains and Pullman service.

UPON ITS OWN MERITS.—Holdstein's Aromanna comes before the public upon its own merits. It is a positive cure for dyspepsia, liver and kidney diseases, sick headache, heartburn, and all debility of the stomach, liver and kidneys. To convince the people that this remedy is no humbug the proprietor is giving away sample bottles free of charge. You can get one at John Harris' drug store, Bellefonte, Pa. Regular size, 25 and 75 cents.

—Children should keep away from the pond of water on the Diamond or they may fall in and drown.

—Now that the excitement of politics is over go to Harry Teats & Co. for groceries.

—Indian summer and copious warm rains have made the grass and grain present a green, luxuriant appearance

—Don't miss reading H. K. Hicks' advertisement. 39:f

—Strong lye will clean tainted pork barrels. As it will soon be hog killing time, you will do well to remember this.

—Look at the horse blankets at Schofield's—from 75 cents to $4.00. Also a large assortment of collars, robes, etc.

—The plumbers are indignant because the approach of winter is so slow.

—"What an immense and choice stock of groceries!" is the exclamation of those who survey the interior of Harry Teats & Co.'s store.

—Several car loads of ties for the Buffalo Run Railroad arrived on Friday.

—Every man who keeps a fine horse and conveyance wants all the equipments of his turn-out to correspond. He can procure the necessary articles at James Schofield's saddler shop. Lap robes, buffalo robes, collars, blankets, etc.

—There are no new developments in regard to D. G. Bush's hair-pin factory.

MR S. GOLDSMITH, of the Bee Hive, is again in New York replenishing their stock of fall and winter dress goods, and ladies' and misses' cloaks. n7-d1-w1

—Several new houses are in process of erection in the southwestern part of the town.

—Now sombre was autumn and sere,
As a maid along the street did go;
Then winter passed by,
And, with sparkling black eye,
She bought groceries of Harry Teats & Co.

—Veterans of the war of 1812 are preparing to celebrate Evacuation Day.

THE Bee Hive is daily receiving from Mr. S. Goldsmith, who was again obliged to go to New York City to replenish their stock of ladies' and children's cloaks, all the latest styles in cloaks, dolmans, nowmarkets, paletots, Jersey coats and jackets and Russian circulars. Ladies, don't fail to see their new styles before purchasing elsewhere. n7-d2t-w1

—Lamb street is impassable at some points, particularly at its intersection with Allegheny. The trenches extend all the way across the street and the dirt is thrown up so high that it looks as if the Smyrna earthquake had visited that section.

—It is to the interest of the pocket-book and stomach of every man in Centre county to buy groceries at Harry Teats & Co.'s store. Go at once.

—A runaway horse almost knocked a little girl down on the Diamond on Friday afternoon.

—We saw the handsomest lady's cloak on Friday that we've laid our eyes on this season. The material from which it was made is plush with chenille fur trimmings, and—well, it's just "buchiful." To be sure, there was a pretty girl inside the coat, but of course that was not the cause of our admiration for the garment. It was made by the Messrs. Goldsmith of the Bee Hive, and the owner is one of Linn street's pleasantest young ladies.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The Peacemaker for November is at hand as full of fight as ever, but its weapons are reason and argument, and it fights for peace; that national disputes be submitted to a "court of arbitration," and not to the arbitration of the sword; that our young men shall war no more. Spurgeon says: Wars are chiefly waged in the interest of capital—seldom in those of industry. Capital could not oppress labor were it not for the army to keep laborers in subjection. All the interests of the working people are identified with the abolition of the war system. An expensive aristocracy of army officers would not long continue if there were no soldiers to command. An army could never exist were the working class sufficiently enlightened to refuse to do military service. The Peacemaker is published by the Universal Peace Union, 432-4-6 Race St., Philadelphia. Terms, $1.00 per year.

The Poultry Bulletin is, as its name implies, a magazine devoted almost exclusively to the poultry interest; is beautifully illustrated, and printed in clear type on nice paper. It is one of the best of its class in the country; very interesting to producers of poultry, and deals in fancy birds. No person would regret the money paid for this excellent magazine. Terms only $1.25 per year; issued monthly. Address, Charles B. Hatker, 62 Courtlandt St., New York.

Wide Awake for November is as full as ever of good reading for boys and girls especially boys, the publishers think, but we include the girls also; for what is good for one in literature, is surely good for the other. The publishers say boys, because every one of its stories outside the serials has a boy for the leading character. Is it possible that the proprietors of this journal do not know that that fact makes it especially a girl's number, since there is nothing girls or women like to read about, more than noble exploits performed by some man or boy? Were all the leading characters girls, then we would agree with the publishers that it was a boy's number. But it is full of good things any way you take it and will interest young folks immensely. Try it. Terms, $2.50 a year. Address, D. Lothrope & Co., (Publishers) Boston, Mass.

The Christmas (December) Harper's Magazine, which is planned to be the most notable issue of a magazine ever published, is, nevertheless, intended to be but the forerunner of a remarkable series throughout 1884. The new and novel serial, "Nature's Serial Story," by E. P. Roe, with illustrations by Gibson and Dellman, and William Black's "Judith Shakespeare," with illustrations by Abbey, are only examples, in the one field of serial fiction, of the scale on which the coming volumes are planned. It is intended during the coming year to make a specialty of stirring short stories.—Publisher's Weekly.

New Advertisements.

THE SUN,

NEW YORK, 1884.

About sixty million copies of THE SUN have gone out of our establishment during the past twelve months.

If you were to paste end to end all the columns of all THE SUNS printed and sold last year you would get a continuous strip of interesting information, common sense wisdom sound doctrine, and sane wit long enough to reach from Printing House square to the top of Mount Copernicus in the moon, then back to Printing House square, and then three-quarters of the way back to the moon again.

But THE SUN is written for the inhabitants of the earth; the same strip of intelligence would girdle the globe twenty seven or twenty-eight times.

If every buyer of a copy of THE SUN during the past year has spent only one hour over it, and if his wife or his grandfather has spent another hour, this newspaper in 1883 has afforded the human race thirteen thousand years of steady reading, night and day.

It is only by little calculations like these that you can form any idea of the circulation of the most popular of American newspapers, or of its influence on the opinions and actions of American men and women.

THE SUN is, and will continue to be, a newspaper which tells the truth without fear of consequences, which hates at the facts no matter what the process costs which presents the the news of all the world without waste of words and in the most readable shape, which is working with all its heart for the cause of honest government, and which therefore believes that the Republican party must go, and must go in this coming year of our Lord, 1884.

If you know THE SUN, you like it already, and you will read it with accustomed diligence and profit during what is sure to be the most interesting year in history. If you do not yet know THE SUN, it is high time to get into the sunshine.

Terms to Mail Subscribers.

The several editions of THE SUN are sent by mail, postpaid, as follows:

DAILY—65 cents a month, $6 a year; with Sunday edition, $7.

SUNDAY—Eight pages. This edition furnishes the current news of the world, special articles of exceptional interest to everybody, and literary reviews of new books of the highest merit. $1 a year.

WEEKLY—$1 a year. Eight pages of the best matter of the daily issues; an Agricultural Department of unequalled value, special market reports, and literary, scientific, and domestic intelligence make THE WEEKLY SUN the newspaper for the farmer's household. To clubs of ten with $10, an extra copy free.

They Must Fail

What our Competitors Say.

How can the Bee-Hive afford to sell Table spreads at 50c. if we have to pay 75c. for the same in large quantities?

How can the Bee-Hive afford to sell White Blankets for $1.50 when we have to pay $2.00 for them at wholesale?

How can the Bee-Hive afford to sell White Blankets at $3.00 when we have to pay $3.50 for them at wholesale?

How can the Bee-Hive afford to sell White Blankets for $6.00 when we have to pay $7.00 for them at wholesale?

How can the Bee Hive afford to sell School Bags at 5c. when we have to pay 15c. at wholesale?

How can the Bee-Hive afford to sell woolen Socks for 20c. when we have to pay 30c. at wholesale?

It is strange but nevertheless true.

The manufacturers and importers from whom we buy do not mind this talk, because we

LATEST TELEGRAPHIC NEWS

How the News was Received.

The news from the State came in slowly Tuesday night, but the substance of the dispatches was sufficient to snow that that grand quartette of states—New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Connecticut—were decidedly Republican and New Jersey probably so. First came the news from Massachusetts that Butlers goose was cooked to the tune of 30,000, but the Democrats were not prepared to believe it. Then came the cheering information that both branches of the Connecticut legislature were Republican. The news from Philadelphia was quite indefinite. Page's election for city Comptroller was at that time said to be in doubt. Then came the vote by wards, which was unsatisfactory, but it was crowned at 12 o'clock with the cheering intelligence that Philadelphia would give a Republican majority of 18,000 which carried with it the State.

About the same time a dispatch was received which announced that the Republicans of New York claimed the State for Carr by 30,000. This was unexpected, and almost too good to believe.

A dispatch from Republican headquarters announced that New Jersey was Republican by 3,000, while a dispatch from P. G. Meek placed New Jersey among the Democratic States. The election in Virginia was said to have been quiet, but the result was in doubt.

A dispatch showed a large Republican loss in Tioga county and a slight gain in Fulton county. Ingram, Republican candidate for Judge in Fayette county, was elected.

An Estimate Wednesday Morning.

P. G. Meek sent the following summary at 8:30 a. m: The State is Republican by a good 12,000. Page defeated in Philadelphia, Butler defeated in Massachusetts. New York, New Jersey, Maryland and Virginia are Democratic.

Pennsylvania.

Lawrence county, Republican majority 1200. Bucks county, Democratic majority 600. Potter county, Republican majority 300. Elk county, Democratic majority 650. Armstrong county very close. Clinton county, Democratic majority 500. Clearfield county, Democratic majority 1500. Schuylkill county, Democratic majority 1400. Somerset county Republican majority 1200. Washington county, Republican majority 100. York county, Democratic majority 3500.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Official reports and corrected estimates, received from a number of counties in this state make no material change in the figures sent out last night. Niles, republican, for auditor general, has 17,818 majority over Taggart, democrat, and Livsey, republican, for state treasurer, has 18 370 over Powell, democrat. Official returns from all counties will not be in for several days.

Virginia Democrats 18,000 Ahead.

RICHMOND, Virginia, Nov. 7.—Prominent readjusters here have given up the contest. There is no doubt but that the democrats have elected a majority. They now claim a majority of 3 in the senate and 20 in the house. This insures the election of a democrat as the successor of Mahone. If democratic gains continue to increase in the same ratio as those already received the democratic popular majority will probably reach 18,000

New Jersey.

Salem county gives Dixon 110 majority. Combs, Republican, is elected to the assembly. Cape May county gives Abbott 36 majority Nicholls for Senator and Lupton and Campbell for assembly, all Republicans, are elected. In Cumberland county Dixon's majority is 700.

Connecticut.

HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 6.—The republicans have carried the legislature probably by 40 majority on joint ballot. The next senate will probably stand fourteen republicans to ten democrats. The vote shows marked republican gains.

Maryland.

BALTIMORE, Md.—McLane, Democratic, has probably been elected governor by 10,000 majority. The Republicans it is thought, have gained 20 or 3 members of the legislature.

Mississippi.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 6.—Meagre election returns from Mississippi indicate a sweeping democratic victory.

Nebraska.

Twenty-six precincts and towns give Reese, Republican, for Supreme Judge 1082 majority and he probably elected.

New York.

The returns from 573 polling places of the city gave Maynard Carr 11,038.

Minnesota.

Hundred towns give Hubbard, an, 2292 majority.

The Latest from New York.

ALBANY, N Y., Nov. 7.—In returns received up to 10 a. m. the Evening Journal claims Carr's election by 13,000. There is a strong probability of Sexton's election, and a possibility of Davenport and Russell. This legislature is surely republican in both branches.

Mayor Low is re-elected in Brooklyn by a majority of 1,528.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The Tribune estimates Carr's plurality in the state at over 16,000, and says the other republican candidates on the state ticket apparently lack only from 4,000 to 6,000 of an election. The assembly will stand seventy four republicans to fifty four democrats.

Butler Laid on the Shelf.

BOSTON, Nov. 7.—Additional returns give the republicans 139 members of the legislature to 92 democrats and 1 independent, with nine districts to hear from. Robinson's total vote thus far is 159,355 and Butler's 150,013, with four towns to hear from. The total vote for lieutenant governor gives Ames 12,600 to 14,000 plurality. The executive council will stand: Republicans, 5, democrats 3, a gain of 2 democrats over last year.

The returns in this state are complete with the exception of one town. Robinson's total vote is 160,161, Butler's 150,074, Almy's 1,553.

Connecticut Republicans Happy.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., November 7.—The state vote shows about 5,700 republican plurality. Last year the democratic plurality was 4,200.

HARTFORD, Conn., November 7.—The senate now stands 16 republicans and 8 democrats, and the house 147 republicans, 90 democrats and 1 doubtful.

Mississippi's Condition Unchanged.

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 7.—The latest returns show no change in the result in the election in this state announced last night except in Panola county, where the fusian ticket was defeated by a small majority.

Nebraska's Latest

OMAHA, Nov. 7.—Reze, republican, for supreme judge will have between 5,000 and 6,000 majority.

Minnesota's Republican Majority.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 7.—The republican majority in the state will not be less than 25,000.

Sale of the Fat Girl's Body.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 6.—The body of Blanche Gray, the fat girl who died here two weeks ago, has been sold for a small sum of money to Dr. Alexander Hill, a surgeon of this city. It is said that Moses, the husband of the girl, immediately after the funeral went to the Doctor and suggested that he would sell the remains, as he was afraid the doctors would have it stolen. The Doctor wants the corpse for the skeleton, as that would be a great curiosity. Young Moses is now on exhibition at the Bowery Museum, New York, and will, it is said, come on here in a day or two to finally dispose of the corpse. It will be taken to one of the medical colleges and dissected. The price paid is reported to be about $25.

Patti Arrives without a Reception.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—There was no boat to meet Mme. Patti as she sailed up the bay in the Gallia this morning, and the diva was in a pet. Colonel Mapleson had chartered two propellers and issued any number of invitations for the occasion, so as to give her a "monster" reception on her arrival, but the despatch announcing the approach of the Gallia failed to reach the gallant Colonel in time, and, as a result, Mme. Patti and Signor Nicolini were compelled to remain on the steamer until its arrival at the pier in this city. Patti is looking considerably brighter and improved than when she was here before, and has gained somewhat in weight. She is to appear on Friday at the Academy of Music.

Turned it for the wrong Train.

ST ALBANS, Vt, November 6.—Ellis, who turned a switch, wrecking a train at North Evansburg yesterday, confessed to turning the switch but says he thought it was a gravel train coming. He was committed for trial. There is much excitement.

WOMAN'S PROVINCE.

The Duties of the Gentler Sex—How Best Fulfilled.

What great task is assigned to woman, its dignity cannot be elevated. It is not her province to make laws, to lead armies, nor to be at the head of great enterprises but to her is given the power to form those by whom the laws are made, to teach the leaders of mighty armies, and governors of vast empires. She is required to guard against having the slightest taint of bodily infirmity touch the frail creature, whose moral, intellectual and physical being is derived from her. She must instill correct principles, inculcate right doctorines, and breathe into the soul of her offspring those pure sentiments which in time to come will be a part of themselves, and bless generations as yet unborn. Yes to woman is given the blessed privilege of aiding the sufferers in all the various stages of his existence. She smiles serenely at the christening, and weeps at the burial, while she soothes the bereaved heart. This is her province and duty. Yet how can she fulfill her mission unless she is possessed of a strong and healthy body? The preparation of Dr. S. B. Hartman, and known as PERUNA, is just the thing for all persons suffering from a majority of the complaints incident to this climate. It is unvaluable to women, and Mrs. J. W. Reynolds, of New Lisbon, Columbiana county, is a noted example of what the medicine can do. She says she had suffered for years with congestion of the lungs, catarrh in the head, and was troubled with a bad cough. She had tried a number of physicians, but they all failed to cure her. She was induced to try PERUNA, and immediately a marked change took place. After using one bottle her cough ceased, and in a short time her other ailments were cured. She is now completely restored to health and gives all the credit to PERUNA.

Nerve, as shown by young Jack. "Nerve!" said the young man of his friend, "why Jack's got a heap of nerve. He wasn't embarrassed a bit the first time he went to a barber's shop so get shaved."

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. NOYES, 149 Power's Block, Rochester, N, Y. 15-37-1yeow

A happy family: Neighbor—"Your family looks contented and happy." Mother—"Yes; the boys are happy because they're through with their whippings and the girls are happy because they didn't get any."

No Charge for Consultation.

If you are suffering from any chronic disease about which you are growing discouraged, such as Pulmonary trouble, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, nervous prostration, etc., send a statement of your condition to Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1109 Girard Street, Philadelphia, and get their opinion as to the value of Compound Oxygen in your case. It will cost you nothing. Ask them at the same time to furnish you with such documents in regard to their Treatment and such evidence in regard to their professional standing as will enable you to clearly apprehend the nature and action of the Treatment and give you confidence in them personally.

As in man's life, so in his studies. I think it the most beautiful and humane thing in the world so to mingle gravity with pleasure that the one may not sink into melancholy, nor the other rise up into wantonness.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth! If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. 15 22 1y

Answer this Question.

Why do so many people we see around us seem to prefer to suffer and be made miserable by indigestion, constipation, dizziness, loss of appetite, coming up of the food, yellow skin, when for 75 cts. we will sell them Shiloh's Vitalizer, guaranteed to cure them. Sold by John Harris.

Hop Bitters

Loss and Gain.

CHAPTER I.

"I was taken sick a year ago
With bilious fever."

"My doctor pronounced me cured but I got sick again, with terrible pains in my back and sides, and I got so bad I

Could not move!
I shrunk!

From 228 lbs. to 120! I had been doctoring for my liver, but it did me no good. I did not expect to live more than three months. I began to use Hop Bitters. Directly my appetite returned, my pains left me, my entire system seemed renewed as if by magic, and after using several bottles I am not only as sound as a sovereign but weigh more than I did before. To Hop Bitters I owe my life."

R. FITZPATRICK.

Dublin, June 6, '81.

CHAPTER II.

"Malden, Mass., Feb. 4, 1880. Gentlemen—I suffered with attacks of sick headache."

Neuralgia, female trouble, for years in the most terrible and excruciating manner.

No medicine or doctor could give me relief or cure until I used Hop Bitters.

"The first bottle
Nearly cured me;"

The second made me as well and strong as when a child,

"And I have been so to this day."

My husband was an invrlid for twenty years with a serious

"Kidney, liver and urinary complaint,

Pronounced by Boston's best physicians—

Incurable!"

Seven bottles of your bitters cured him, and I know of the "Lives of eight persons"

In my neighborhood that have been saved by your bitters.

And many more are using them with great benefit.

"They almost
Do miracles!" —MRS. E. D. STACK.

HOW TO GET SICK.—Expose yourself day and night; eat too much without exercise; work too hard without rest; doctor all the time; take all the vile nostrums advertised, and then you will want to know how to get well, which is answered in three words—Take Hop Bitters!

ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS

—Let the rooster crow.

—Extra-sessions are not popular.

—Carry the news to Jim Schofield.

—The legislature will now adjourn.

—Very pleasant day after the election.

—One year of Democracy was enough.

—Jubilant politicians made quite a racket about 2 o'clock Wednesday morning.

—Malin and Hale were said to be banging away at quails in the vicinity of Hanover Junction last week.

—The work now progressing on the trenches on Allegheny street extends from Curtin street almost to High.

—Frank W. Smith's lecture last week in Humes' Hall was listened to by a large and pleased audience.

—Al. Garman patiently waited for news in the Western Union telegraph office Tnesday night. All he wanted was news—either good or bad.

—The school boys were almost as much interested in the result of the election on Tuesday night as the men and waited impatiently for information.

—The Executive Committee of the Y. M. C. A. met Thursday evening in Association Hall at 6 o'clock. Messrs. Garman and Fleming entertained handsomely.

—The regular meeting of council was held on Monday evening, November 5. The general estimate reported of work done on the Spring creek bridge was $1,000.

—A turkey was wandering about on High street the other day. We looked carefully for some hunter in the distance, but strange to say they were not near.

—A handsome stone has been put in the west abutment of Spring creek bridge containing the date 1883 and the names of J. Dunkle, contractor, and E. T. Gallagar, foreman.

—There are only five candidates thus far for the President Judgeship. They are A. O. Furst and J. G. Love, Esqs., Republicans; and J. H. Orvis, C. T. Alexander and Adam Hoy, Esqs., Democrats.

—One of the finest trotters on the road is the splendid animal driven by Dr. Hoy, of this place. She answers to the name of "Mag," and can spin over the road at a rate seldom equalled hereabouts.

—The large stock of dry goods and groceries owned by the late David Wagner and after his decease purchased by Mr. Cook, has been moved from the store room on Bishop street in which it was recently placed.

—We regret to add to our list of deaths that of the beloved wife of Mr. A. C. Hinton, an esteemed citizen of Snow Shoe. The lady was quite aged. The funeral occurred at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning of last week.

—Now as fall has arrived and that heating stoves of all kinds will be brought into requisition, it behooves all our citizens to see that their stovepipes are properly and safely arranged, and thus avoid the calamity of fires which might otherwise occur.

—We learn with regret of the death of Dr. Hillibish, of Rebersburg. He was a distinguished physician and had practiced his profession for a very long period in this county. His age was 59 years. He leaves a wife and a daughter.

—Wonder if the Daily Democrat, of Lock Haven, has heard the news from Pennsylvania yet? It got it in as "in doubt" Wednesday, with "prospects of Democratic success." Bluff is a big card in Democratic journalism, and the Democrat seems to have caught right on from the start.

—A sensible young lady made the following request to her friends: "Do not lay me down by the rippling brook's side, lest babbling lovers wake me from my dream; nor in the beautiful cemeteries in the valleys, lest sight-seers, conning over epitaphs, distract me, but let my last sleep be under the counter of the merchant and the business man generally who never advertises. There is the peace which passeth all understanding, and a deep sleep, on which neither the buoyant footfall of youth nor the weary shuffle and drag of old age will never intrude."

—Mr. A. B. Steel, who has been connected with the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN and DAILY NEWS as solicitor and collector for several years, has permanently severed his relations with those paper. He desires us to thank the subscribers of those journals for the many favors they have extended to him while in the pursuit of his duties. During his connection with the REPUBLICAN he has perhaps formed the acquaintance of as many people as any other man in the county. In this extensive experience he has been notably successful.

Returns from Sixteen Precincts in Centre County.

On Tuesday night the Republican headquarters was located in the office of 'Squire John I. Rankin and that of the Democrats in the Watchman office. In the former D. H. Hastings, Chairman Keller, John T. Johnson and other Republicans took charge of the meeting and in the latter Gen. Blair, West Gephart and F. P. Blair figured prominently. During the early part of the evening there was little enthusiasm on either side as none of it was particularly encouraging. The vote in the county showed that the Democrats had marched to the polls in their usual strength.

The total vote in the borough for Taggart is 319, Niles 387; Niles majority 68 For Powell 320, Livsey 386; Livsey's majority 66. For Dale 395, Smith 311; Dale's majority 84. For Harshberger 345, Heinle 356; Heinle's majority 11. For Ray 375, Orvis 326; Ray's majority 49.

THE ESTIMATE IN THE COUNTY.

Republicans and Democrats agree that the Democratic majority in the county is 1,050. Smith's majority is estimated at 319, although the Republicans admit that it may be as high as 500. Heinle's run is somewhat ahead of the State ticket and it will be safe to estimate his majority at from 1200 to 1300. Orvis' majority is almost even with the State ticket and will be between 800 and 900. Smith was terribly cut in his own township, the Southern Precinct of Ferguson, receiving only 47 majority, which is far behind the State ticket. In Dale's township, College, he ran several votes ahead of the State ticket. All things considered, the Republicans have polled their usual proportion of votes in this county, although it is not so large as last year when Beaver was a candidate.

How They Took It.

Our Democratic friends took the news of their defeat Tuesday night very hard, and many a Democratic head tossed restlessly upon its pillow from midnight till sunrise. The first knockdown came with the announcement of Butler's route in the Bay State. Miles Walker and Al Garman squirmed all over at this intelligence and went out to take a walk. The reading of the dispatch created a big stir in the Watchman office, and a number of the "faithful" were obliged to tap their "pocket-companions" in order to keep their spirits above the freezing point. Then came a dispatch stating that the Connecticut Republicans had elected both branches of the Legislature, and made large gains all over the State This was a roaster, and took the starch out of Democratic coat tails Chairman Heinle lowered his eyebrows and stole silently down stairs and Justice Smith pulled down his vest and slipped out without even saying "good evening." Gov. Curtin dropped in just as the messenger boy was telephoning the news of a probable Republican victory in New York. His face wore sort of a dreamy I-guess-we're-gone-up look, and he didn't seem to be at all interested in the proceedings. Over at the Democratic headquarters Jimmy Schofield was roosting on the edge of a desk and seemed to be all broken up. He had been explaining to the boys the cause of the cyclone in Massachusetts and Connecticut. He was of the opinion that the colored voters hadn't been properly handled. (Jim wasn't there to tell them about the civil rights) From 11 to 12 o'clock the news came in slow, and then the inspiring music flew over the wires that the old Keystone had hit the Pattison government a clout right between the eyes by rolling up a fifteen thousand Republican majority. This announcement was received with vociferous cheering at Republican headquarters, and the "calithumpians" immediately started out to spread the glad tidings through the different wards. At Democratic headquarters it created a panic, and the rooms were emptied in a jiffy, the inmates seeming to have urgent business at home. At two o'clock the "boys" were still parading the streets and grinding out misery for the defeated Democracy.

An Interesting Epistle Containing Local Allusions.

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio, Nov. 1, '83.

DEAR MR. EDITOR:—I write to pay you my subscription, which is due. It is willingly paid for I enjoy the weekly visits of the Republican very much. I see in it the names of a great many old acquaintances and also of many strangers, for in thirty-one years there are many changes. Nearly every week's issue tells me of some one gone to the home beyond the tomb and warns me that this is not to be our abiding place. I also see that you had frost in Centre county some time ago. We in Portsmouth have not had frost yet—that is, enough to hurt anything. We buy tomatoes in the market for 25 cents a peck. It was only ten days ago that I brought in my flowers. I have a great many tropical plants and some of them are out yet—such, for instance, as the Caladian, Cannas, Salvia, &c. The mercury here stood at 71 degrees last Sunday and we had some very severe rains, accompanied with sharp lightning and heavy thunder both Sunday and Monday. On the 25th of October a severe storm occurred. The temperature previous to the storm was high, the mercury standing at 68°. At 10 o'clock there were indications of rain. The clouds grew thicker and blacker and at 11.30 o'clock the storm burst upon us. The lightning flashed, the wind blew a hurricane and snow and hail fell with blinding fury. The temperature, however, remained warm, and no damage was done by the storm. Today it is cooler than any previous day of this season, the mercury being at 45°. I am glad to notice that the river is rising. It has been low for so long that we fear a drought.

I noticed in your paper recently that a gentlemen in Bellefonte—a Mr. Ardell—had a night blooming cereus and that the beautiful plant had just put forth a blossom. I have one which has had as many as eighteen buds and blossoms at one time. It is ten years old. I have also a night blooming cactus. The blossoms are much alike, but the plants differ materially, one having a flat leaf and the other a four square leaf. I have a large wax plant that was adorned with grand clusters of flowers last summer. All who have seen this plant know how beautiful it is when in blossom.

It may interest some of your readers to know that a lady named Rebie H. R. Longshare, now living in Columbus, Nebraska, is about to start for California and from there will go to Australia to practice medicine. This lady was born in Milesburg, in your county, and during her childhood and youth she lived in the Bald Eagle Valley. She studied medicine in Philadelphia. Of course, you will all wish her success as she will reflect honor on the land of her childhood. There, I have written more than I intended. Good-bye.

A SUBSCRIBER.

The Present to Mr. John Shaughensey.

The very kind act which took place at the glass works on Monday afternoon, Nov. 5, in the present of a gold watch to Mr. John Shaushensey, who was at the same time promoted from a lower position to that of "snapper," means more than our brief notice of yesterday would indicate. We are informed that John is held in high esteem at the glass works. He has shown himself to be remarkably willing and useful. Many duties which he was not obliged to perform at all he performed with that alacrity and cheerfulness that was very meritorious. He gained the good-will of everybody at the glass works and his promotion was hailed with delight by all. Senator Alexander, one of the members of the company, was very desirous of being present to express his pleasure at the event, but was prevented by business engagements from doing so.

John was at work at his new occupation on Monday afternoon and seemed to work with as much skill as a veteran workman.

By the way this custom of performing graceful acts as a reward of merit seems to be peculiar to the glass works among the business establishments in Bellefonte. It is a custom which might be profitably followed by others. The glass works deserves all the success which it receives.

—When Blaine and Conkling were in the Senate they often engaged in a war of words. Then Conkling and Gowen had a set-to the other day. But the misunderstanding existing between the worthy chairman of the Republican county committee and one of the members of the Legislature from this county threatens to cast all the other disagreements in the shade. Tuesday afternoon and and again Wednesday morning sarcastic allusions and paralyzing innendo run rife. What the outcome will be we cannot now state. But we should think the big victories on the one side and the $10 per day on the other would make each of them feel good enough to shake hands and be good friends.

—Lock Haven's new daily paper, The Lock Haven Daily Democrat, has been started on the uncertain sea of journalism. It is larger than either of the other daily papers in that city and gives more reading matter. It announces the publication of fresh telegraphic news received up to the the hour of going to press, which is such an expensive investment that its success is doubtful. Barring some features of the paper—notably the head line—it is quite handsome, and should be able to aid the Democratic cause in Lock Haven.

—We thought that the present Democratic overseer of the poor was performing the duties of his office with severe economy, but if the L. H. Journal tells the truth that city is far ahead of Bellefonte. Read the following from the Journal of Monday, the 5th:

Bellefonte's poor department expenses last month were $140 Lock Haven's expenses in October were less than $100 for twenty people, which is evidence that Bellefonte has more poor to take care of than we have, or else her authorities are not schooled in the science of economy.

Lecture Postponed.

The lecture on "Russia" to have been delivered on Wednesday evening by Ex-Governor A. G. Curtin at Pleasant Gap for the benefit of the M. E. church in that place has been postponed until the latter part of this month or until the Christmas holidays. The exact date cannot yet be named. We hope, however, that the lecture will soon be given, as everybody is anxious to hear Gov. Curtin in his happiest effort.

—The effort to disenfranchise D. G. Bush, Esq, in the South ward did not work any more successfully in that instance than in the 30 or 40 other similar instances which came to our notice. But South warders should remember that D. G. Bush is a Democrat.

—"Crushed cabbage" is the new name for sauer kraut.

The Annual Inspection.

We learn from the Altoona Tribune that the general inspection of the P. R. R. began last week on Tuesday, starting from Pittsburg at 7:35 o'clock The party arrived in Altoona at 4:05 o'clock that afternoon. Special cars Nos. 180 and 60 arrived in that city on Monday afternoon, Nov. 5, enroute to Pittsburg, having on board the following officials: Frank Thompson, second vice president Pennsylvania railroad; Chas. E. Pugh, general manager; F. W. Jackson, general superintendent New York division; Superintendent Carter, of the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore railroad; J. W. Latta, general agent Pennsylvania railroad; Spencer S. Meade, superintendent of the Sunbury division of the Pittsburg and Erie railroad; S. M. Prevost, general superintendent of the Pennsylvania railroad; O. E. McClellan, superintendent of the middle division, W. F. Kinney, of the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore road.

—Editor Kurtz, of the Centre Hall Reporter, believes that the Bald Eagle Valley Railroad has been opposed to the construction of the Spring Mills and Lemont railroad since the stock was taken and collected for the latter road. He intimates that an agreement was made at that time to the effect that the Spring Mills and Lemont railroad should not be completed. It is in order for somebody to rise and explain.

Not Registered.

Thirty or forty citizens of the South ward discovered on going to the polls this morning that their names were not on the registry list. While this shows negligence on the part of the voter, it is an exhibition of criminality on the part of the registration assessor. If the people of the South ward insist upon electing incompetent registration assessors they must suffer the consequences.

—Samuel Zeigler of Madisonburg, will soon move to the West.

COURT PROCLAMATION.—Whereas, the Hon. John H. Orvis, President Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of the 49th judicial district, consisting of the Counties of Centre and Huntingdon and the Hon. J. G. Larimer and the Hon. J. R. Smith, Associate Judges in Centre county, having issued their precept, bearing date the 18th of September, A. D., 1883, to me directed, for holding a court of Oyer and Terminer and General Jail Delivery and Quarter Sessions of the peace in Bellefonte, for the County of Centre, and to commence on the fourth Monday of Nov. next, being the 26th day of November, 1883, and to continue two weeks notice is hereby given to the Coroner, Justices of the Peace, Aldermen and Constables of said County of Centre, that they be then and there in their proper persons, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, with their records, inquisitions, examinations, and their own remembrances, to do those things which to their office appertains to be done, and those who are bound in recognizances to prosecute against the prisoners that are or shall be in the jail of Centre county, be then and there to prosecute against them as shall be just.

Given under my hand, at Bellefonte, the 26th day of Oct., in the year of our Lord, 1883, and in the one hundred and seventh year of the independence of the United States.

THOMAS J. DUNKEL,
Oct28tf Sheriff.

HUNTINGDON COUNTY, ss.

And now, August 23rd, 1883, in compliance with and in obedience to the command contained in the 101h section of the act of Assembly approved August 7, A. D. 1883, entitled "An Act to designate the several Judicial Districts of the Commonwealth as required by the Constitution." It is hereby ordered and decreed that the time for holding the regular terms of the Courts of the counties of Centre and Huntingdon, comprising this (the 49th) Judicial District, shall be as follows:

For the county of Centre. A regular term of the Court of Common Pleas, of Oyer and Terminer and General Jail Delivery, a Court of Quarter Sessions and an Orphans' Court, shall be begun and holden at the Court House in the borough of Bellefonte, on the 4th Monday of January, April, August and November of each year at 10 o'clock A. M., each of said terms to continue for a period of two weeks.

For the county of Huntingdon. The first regular term of said Courts shall be begun and holden at the Court House in the borough of Huntingdon, on the 2d Monday of December of the present year, to continue for a period of two weeks, to which term all writs now issued or hereafter to be issued shall be made returnable. And hereafter the regular terms of said Courts shall be begun and holden at the said Court House in the borough of Huntingdon, on the 2d Monday of February, April, September and December of each year, at 10 o'clock A. M. Each of said terms to continue for a period of two weeks, for the trial of all cases, issues, charges, prosecutions and indictments which may be by law triable in said Courts. The Jury Commissioners and the Sheriff of the said several counties are directed to draw from the wheel containing the names of jurors a panel of Grand Jurors to the number of twenty-four, to serve as Grand Jurors for the first week of each of said terms, and a panel of Petit and Traverse Jurors to the number of thirty-six to serve as Jurors for the second week of each of said terms, and the Sheriffs of said counties are directed to summon them as directed by law. And for the summoning of the said jurors, the Prothonotaries and Clerks of the said Courts in the respective counties are directed to issue to Sheriff and Jury Commissioners the proper writs of venire as required by law. The Prothonotaries and Clerks of Court of the said counties are directed to make such changes in the headings of the Dockets, and in the return day of any writs heretofore issued, to the next term of Court in the said counties as may be necessary to comply with this order. A copy of this order shall be published in three newspapers published in the county of Huntingdon, and in three newspapers published in the county of Centre for a period of thirty days immediately preceding the holding of the first Court under this order in each of said counties. The Prothonotary of the county of Huntingdon is directed to enter this decree in full upon the Continuance Docket of the Court of Common Pleas of said county and to make out and certify under the seal of Common Pleas a true and correct copy of this decree, to be transmitted to the county of Centre, there to be entered and filed by the Prothonotary of the county of Centre among the records of the Court of Common Pleas. By the Court, JNO. H. ORVIS, P. J.

From the record, August 24, 1883.
Certified by W. H. WILLIAMSON, Prothonotary.

Certified from the records of the Court of Common Pleas of Centre county, this 17th day of October, A. D. 1883. J. C. HARPER, Prothonotary.

Rather too Long.

After Twenty Years on the Wrong Side of Life a Virginian Turns the Tables.

"How long did you say?"

"Twenty years, I said. Up to the time I mentioned I had suffered from diseased liver for twenty years," said Mr. S. T. Hancock, of Richmond, Va., half-sadly, as though thinking of that dilapidated section of his life. "At times I almost wished it had pleased Providence to quit the liver from the human anatomy."

"Bad enough—twenty years of that sort of thing," responded the listener. "What was the upshot of it?"

"The upshot was that some time ago I went down to Scott's drug store in this city, and bought one of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS, applied it and was relieved in a few hours, and am now as sound as though my liver were made of India rubber."

Benson's—unlike the old fashioned kind of plasters—act promptly. Look for the word CAPCINE, which is cut in the genuine. Price 25 cents. Seabury & Johnson, Chemists, New York. 15-43-4t

Terms, $2.00 per annum in Advance

Local Department.

Notice.

Mr. A. B Steele who has been in the employ of this office for the past two years and a half, resigned his position on the 6 h inst. to take effect immediately. We have, at present, no authorized agent to collect money or solicit subscriptions for the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN.

EDWARD T. TUTEN.

—There are thirteen prisoners in the Bellefonte jail.

—A $15,000 elephant owned by Barnum is quite ill.

—Sunday-schools are preparing for their Christmas entertainments.

—The people of Spring Mills are delighted with their new iron bridge.

—William Willets, a cousin of John Cook, of this place, died at his home in Philadelphia, on Monday, the 5th. He was 18 years of age.

—The Watchman's flock of sparrows is considered by some Democrats a burlesque on the result. But it's no such thing. The sparrow is just about the size of it.

—Several well developed drunks were arrested on Saturday afternoon and one or two fights occurred. We hear that our well-known corn doctor was one of the offenders.

—Gen. James A. Beaver has consented to address the Young Men's Christian Association at Reading on the occasion of their anniversary, Thursday evening, December 14.

—A representative of Berwind, White & Co., coal operators, last week, inspected the valuable coal lands of Kreamer, Mann & Co., on Kettle Creek, with the view of purchasing them.

—The Young Men's Guild of the Episcopal church was formed last Friday evening and will meet regularly on the first Friday evening of each month at the residence of Mr. Abram Valentine.

—The ancient residence on East High street occupied by ex Burgess A Sternberg, is undergoing very extensive improvements which promise to convert it into quite a handsome dwelling. It is one of the oldest houses in the borough.

—One might suppose, from a perusal of the Watchman, that the Democrats actually elected somebody on Tuesday. But, fortunately, the people obtained all the news through the columns of the Daily News before the Watchman came out.

—Mrs. Harvey Mann has purchased the lot on Spring street between the Van Tries residence and Mrs. Livingston's residence and will build a handsome dwelling house thereon. The residence is intended for the occupancy of other parties.

—Among the eminent citizens who came to town on the train from Lock Haven last Saturday were ex-Governor Curtin, Edmund Blanchard, Hon. L. A. Mackey and Mr. Joe Furey. The latter spent Saturday morning in examining the printing offices of that lively lumber city.

—The official vote was counted in the Court House on Thursday afternoon. It is said that Dr. Smith, the 485 man for associate judge, was present to look after his individual interests and that Judge Orvis kept one eye open to see that not a vote was lost for his son, Ellis.

—The Executive Committee of the Y. M. C. A. were delightfully entertained Thursday evening in Association Hall by Messrs Edwin Garman and Willis Fleming. To add to the special excellence of the entertainment, Miss Garman and Miss Butts were present to assist in waiting on the table which they did very gracefully.

—The election figures given in the Watchman on Friday were just what the News announced that they would be. Twenty thousand Democratic majority in New York, is a monstrous exaggeration. In fact, that State belongs in the Republican column, as late returns show that the Republicans are certain of the Secretary of State and Legislature, while the others are in doubt.

—The steam heating company are making the digging of their trenches much more of a nuisance than is necessary. Not only are the trenches left open longer than it is necessary, but the wooden pipes are left in places where they are in the way of vehicles. On Saturday one of these pipes extended across the crossing from Reynolds' Bank to the Court House which added to the inconvenience of the traveling public.

Bellefonte, Nittany and Lemont Railroad.

L. A. Mackey, President of the Bald Eagle Valley R. R. Co., was in town on Saturday last on business connected with the proposed road from Bellefonte to Lemont. Being interviewed by a News reporter, he said in substance that he had been very much disappointed in not finding a better state of feeling here in favor of that enterprise; that with the exception of the liberal propositions of Robert Valentine and his associates and J. Fearon Mann, he has not been much encouraged by citizens of Bellefonte who are owners of properties along the line of the road and finds that a few of our prominent citizens appear to be opposed to it. He further said he had been instructed to continue his efforts to secure the right of way and feels confident that the road will be built during the next year.

Reporter: "How about the Penns Valley road?"

Ans: "If the road to Lemont is placed under contract I have the utmost confidence that the P. R. R. Co. will at once enter upon the completion of their line from Spring Mills to Lemont. The great injustice done for many years to the Penns Valley people has not until very recently been presented to Mr. Roberts, and I know that he fully appreciates their claims and has ordered a corps of engineers to examine the unfinished line, and I believe will, as soon as he receives their report, direct the road to be finished. The building of the road from Bellefonte to Lemont will certainly secure the completion of the unfinished road to Spring Mills."

Reporter: "I suppose you know there is considerable bad feeling here against the P. R. R. Co."

He replied: "I am fully aware of the efforts recently made here to create an unfriendly sentiment against that company, but also know that the business men of Bellefonte, with very few exceptions, admit that they have been fairly and liberally accommodated. Some of your people, while they proposed to manage their business in their own way, are unwilling to accord the same privilege to the R. R. Co."

E. Randall, the Evangelist, in Bellefonte—A Confession.

Last Monday a middle aged man, with a weather beaten countenance and rough, sailor uniform entered our office and announced himself as E. Randall, the Evangelist. He did not attempt to impress upon us the wickedness of our lives or to warn us that we must do better, but told us all about himself, and his confession was something like the following:

"I lived in West Virginia and was happily married in 1859. In the year 1865 I committed a forgery. The instrument of forgery was a note for $690, and the names forged were those of my father-in-law and brother-in-law. The note was paid before I was indicted. But in 1866 I was converted and voluntarily acknowledged the crime and gave myself up. I was imprisoned in the penitentiary at Moundsville, West Virginia. I was released by commutation of sentence on the 28th day of May, 1869. Meanwhile, in 1867, my wife was divorced. She died in the year 1882."

That is the substance of the confession that Mr. Randall deems it advisable to make wherever he goes. He visits jails and reformatory institutions and induces criminals to confess their crimes and lead better lives. He chooses those among whom he will work from the outcasts of society and does much to prevent crime. He paints Scripture texts in conspicuous places and holds street meetings. He seems to be well fitted for this peculiar department of evangelizing work and we wish him much success. He will remain in this vicinity quite a long time.

Improvements around the Pennsylvania State College.

STATE COLLEGE, Nov. 7, 1883.

MR. EDITOR: I am exceedingly happy to inform you that everything is very prosperous in our vicinity. The residence that was to be built for the late Rev. Gibson is almost completed and it will make a fine house. Prof. Osmond has the foundation for his house completed. The fine residence recently completed by Mr. Stuart was purchased by Mr. James H. Hohnes. Its location is as desirable as any that could be selected near the College. Mr. Hohnes intends to make it his future home.

Mr. Stuart continues to be interested in building operations. He expects to have his new store house ready to move into this fall, and he has commenced the foundation of another building. There are indications that others will build soon.

The Governor's Thanksgiving Proclamation.

On Friday evening Governor Pattison issued the following Thanksgiving proclamation:

Whereas, It is fitting that a people should pause amidst the enjoyments of prosperity to gratefully acknowledge the Divine Author of their blessings, Now, therefore, I, Robert E Pattison, governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do recommend Thursday, November 29, A. D, 1883, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer. During the past year our State and common country have been marvelously exempted from calamity. We have continued to preserve terms of concord with all communities of men. No part of our people has been seriously afflicted with disaster, and our industries have thrived and our harvests have been bountiful. The toil of the laborer has not been in vain as the rewards of thrift are everywhere manifest. Tumult and dissensions have been averted and quiet has dwelt with plenty, and our republic of States has continued to live in the undiminished affection of the people. Conscience and reason alike teaches that these blessings have not resulted from chance but are due to the merciful goodness of the supreme God of the universe.

That they may be our continuing heritage we should manifest a grateful spirit of thanksgiving to their gracious Giver. To praise for past blessings we should also add a devout entreaty for their continuance and the amelioration of the lot of those whom misfortune and poverty oppress. The destitute, unemployed and the stricken should have remembrance in our prayers. In conformity, therefore, with the uniform custom sanctioned by the religious sense of our states to appoint general days of thanksgiving and prayers, I issue this proclamation.

Rev. Clift's Republicanism.

We have no reason to wonder at the intense Republicanism of Rev. G. J. Clift, pastor of the A. M. E. church, and when the Democrats began to bull-doze him they commenced on the wrong man. He has had political experiences with which anything that may occur in Bellefonte sinks into insignificance. Although he loves all men in the sense that he will strive to benefit them, his dislike of Democracy, as a system, is intense in the extreme and he would not trust it with the rights of a negro. Rev. Clift was in New York City when the memorable riots occurred between the Democrats and negroes, when the latter were forced to seek safety wherever they could. He has seen negroes saturated with coal oil and then the match applied. He has seen the husband and father killed in the presence of his family. Having passed through these experiences and having himself been concealed in a stable for several days to escape the fury of a Democratic mob, is it strange that he should always be a Republican? Verily, it is "dyed in the wool," and Democrats will do well to allow him to vote uninterruptedly hereafter.

—That big rooster in the Watchman that is crowing over the result in Centre county is a correct representation of the Democratic party. It is aged and ugly and looks as if a hurricane had passed through it. Evidently its days are numbered and those little roosters surrounding it will unite and lick it all to thunder some day. Like Democratic roosters generally it crows over an imaginary victory. It has reached that age of imbecility that renders it impossible to discriminate between victory and defeat. There is absolutely nothing for the Democrats to exult over in Centre County as the highest majority on that ticket fell short several hundred of being as large as we have known it. Indeed, it is a loss to the Democrats, and a little more effort on the part of Mr. Dale would have elected him over Smith. The result in the county appears in a tabulated statement elsewhere.

Fruit in Centre County.

MR. EDITOR: The fruit raised in Centre county has been a source of large income this year. Rev. Dr. Hamill shipped 1,000 bushels of apples from his place. Joseph Hoy sold $533 worth. It is said that the Pennsylvania State College made 1640 gallons of cider besides selling and using 300 bushels of apples. Two thousand bushels of grapes were raised on the College farm. The finest peaches seen in Centre county came from the College experimental farm. There few of the many similar figures that might be quoted show that fruit in Centre county is an important production.

—Spring Mills has five grain dealers and the people acknowledge that the number is not quite sufficient to render them absolutely happy.

Judge Orvis' Resignation.

On Thursday evening Hon. John H Orvis, President Judge of the Forty-ninth judicial district, performed his last official act by signing the election returns and then sent his resignation of the high position which he fills to Harrisburg, and when that resignation is accepted he will be judge no longer.

Judge Orvis is, we have no hesitancy in saying, the most talented member of the Centre county bar, and his reason for this act is doubtless to engage in the practice of the law which will be more remunerative to him. Judge Orvis is our ideal of a judge—one whom criminals fear and good citizens respect, and his resignation is a subject of regret. Indeed, we've often thought that the circumstances, whatever they might have been, that made Judge Orvis a Democrat, must have been misunderstood at the time, as he has many of the good qualities of a Republican and would be taken for one in a crowd.

But his resignation at this time may have a design against which we warn Republicans. A Democrat will be appointed in his place and the temporary prestige which that Democrat will attain will, it is believed, aid him when the election of a judge occurs in the fall of 1884. But we know of no other Democrat than Judge Orvis who is fitted for the position.

Who shall succeed Mr. Orvis? It requires no especial wisdom on the part of the people to perceive that A. O. Furst, Esq., is better fitted by nature and education than any one in the Forty-ninth district for that position. His physiognomy is judicial; he is stern, self-possessed and just in an eminent degree. If the position is to gain rather than lose by the resignation of Judge Orvis, A. O. Furst must be his successor.

A Report We are Glad to Hear Contradicted.

On Thursday the Daily News quoted the substance of a dispatch from Pittsburg to the New York City and Philadelphia papers to the effect that the glass workers at the factory here threatened to strike if any glass is shipped to Pittsburg parties. We are pleased that the dispatches are entirely incorrect and originated in the mind of some one determined on mischief. Even the thought of such an event as a strike has not once entered into the minds of the glass workers, nor have they attempted to coerce their employers in the matter. The President of the Window Glass Blowers' Association did request Mr. Munson to desist from shipping goods to fill Pittsburg orders, and that is as far as that matter extended, the obliging manager cheerfully acceding to the request, as the factory is compelled to refuse many orders and it is immaterial to them which orders meet with that fate. The Association and the factory here have always been on the best possible terms and the members of the Association in Bellefonte occupy a high place in the estimation of the Order as in the amount and excellence of the work performed they average higher than the employes of any other factory. The Bellefonte Glass Works is the best paying business in this vicinity and every effort will be made to continue the present prosperous and peaceful state of affairs.

—If there is one individual who aroused Democratic ire more than another on election day that individual is Rev. G. J. Clift, the popular pastor of the A. M. E. church in this place. Like a respectable citizen he went to the polls early to deposit his vote, but it was challenged by Mr. Schofield and the reverend gentleman was compelled to return to his home to secure his tax receipt. This unwarrantable action aroused his indignation and he resolved to influence all the votes in favor of the Republican party that he could and was very successful, as the result shows. In this he did what he conceived to be his duty and did not think it necessary to consult Democrats on the subject. Whether they approve of it or not is immaterial to him as he has the proud consciousness of having done right. His dignified answer to a Democratic politician who threatened that "every d—d nigger should vote the Democratic ticket" also served to take the Democrats down to a considerable extent. "You are welcome to the nigger votes," he replied; "but the negroes will vote the Republican ticket." Rev. Clift is not only a good preacher, but he is also a sound Republican.

—The DuBois Courier man chronicles as a fact that "they have a Turtle out there so large that men can stand on its back and the reptile walks off with them. The thing is about the size of a bushel basket, with a head as large as a four year old bull-dog's and a tail like an elephant's trunk."

Homes for Workingmen.

Mr. Robert Lloyd, one of the wealthy and prominent citizens of Philipsburg, was in Bellefonte on Friday afternoon and called at the REPUBLICAN office. He is a genial, wholesouled gentleman whom it is a pleasure to meet and Philipsburg is fortunate in the possession of such a citizen. We learned from him that an enterprise is on foot to make vast improvements in North Philipsburg, which will eventually make it the most popular and lively portion of that town. With this object in view the citizens have purchased a large extent of territory in the district mentioned above and will sell building lots very cheap. The lots are among the most desirable in that borough. Purchasers will also be aided in the erection of dwellings, and the demand for the lots is expected to be large. Any movement to secure homes for the workingmen should be encouraged, and this enterprise, originated by Mr. Lloyd and others, deserves the highest commendation and we wish it success.

—Lament of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives on hearing the result of the election of November 6, 1883:

Who struck Robert E. Pattison?
Who struck our great reformer?
Oh! who could strike our pretty dude?
Who put Patti in the corner?

The people's dear and honest rights
You'll neither sell or give away;
Ungrateful Senate! thus to sleight
Dear Patti's ten dollars a day.

On! stubborn senate, 'tis your fault
that the dear people found us out;
For oft you wanted to adjourn,
And now they've sent us up the spout.

But we will make our fall sublime
As turning of a buckwheat cake;
For up Salt River we will g,
And long we'll mourn o'er Patti's wake.

Dear Watchman! "tell us of the night,"
On that dark and briny river;
Oh! do you think you'll locate there,
And return no more forever?

On October 13 h Forepaugh's circus and menagerie exhibited in Williamsport, and Miss Hattie Collins, daughter of Mr. Daniel Collins, who was then employed as a domestic with a family in Newberry, left for the purpose of attending the show. Since that date nothing has been heard or seen from her. Her parents are nearly distracted, and will thankfully receive any information of her whereabouts. The following personal description is given: Aged 17 years; light hair; blue eyes; short and heavy set, weighing about 180 pounds. Direct any communication to Daniel Collins, Newberry, Lycoming county, Pa.

—The next concert to be given by the Bellefonte Orchestra for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. piano fund will occur in December, the date not yet being definitely fixed. The Orchestra in addition to their new selections, have over ninety pieces which they have previously performed from which a selection can be made if there are any which our musicians especially desire to hear. If so, some member of the Orchestra should be informed in time for proper preparation to render it on the occasion of the concert.

Eclipses in 1884.

Next year there will be a partial eclipse of the sun, on March 27, visible at the North pole. The second will be a total eclipse of the moon, on April 10, visible in California. the third will be a partial eclipse of the sun, April 22, visible in the southern hemisphere. The fourth will be a total eclipse of the moon, visible in this latitude on October 4, and the fifth a partial eclipse of the sun on October 18, in Kamskatchka.

—It is the prevailing opinion that Adam Hoy, Esq., will be appointed by Governor Pattison in the place of President Judge Orvis, resigned. We interrogated Judge Orvis on the subject on Friday and he replied that he does not know, as it depends entirely on Governor Pattison. J. L. Spangler, Esq. is, we understand, now in Harrisburg and he will endeavor to use his influence in favor of somebody.

—The stable on the farm of Mr. Evan Thomas, at Oak Hall, was burned to the ground at an early hour on Friday morning. The place was occupied by Mr. Keysickle, whose loss in hay and corn amounts to quite a sum. All the stock was saved. The origin of the fire is not known. There was insurance on the building, but as it was old and rickity, the loss will be slight.

—The majority in Pennsylvania is mounting higher and higher. The latest figures are—Niles 18,623; Livsey, 20,561. Carry the news to the Court House, and it would be well to stop on the way at the Watchman office where they are inclined to underestimate Republican majorities.

Judge Orvis' resignation takes place immediately.

Personal Pencilings.

W. R Teller spent part of Friday last in Williamsport.

Mr. John Cook went East on Saturday evening on lumber business.

Christian Dale, Sr., of College township, was in town on Saturday.

Rev. R. Crittenden was at the City Hotel, Williamsport, on Friday.

Mr. George Valentine was at the Hepburn House, Williamsport, on Friday.

Hon. L. A. Mackey has returned from New York to his home in Lock Haven.

Miss Bogges, of Virginia, who has been the guest of Miss Jackson, departed on Thursday.

Ex-Representative J. P. Gephart lounged languidly in Beaver & Gephart's office Friday evening.

Mr. Frank Dale, who is now taking a medical course in a Philadelphia University, was in town last week.

Miss Sarah Benner and Miss Mary Morris have returned from their recent extended trip through the State.

J. B. Crawford, who recently returned from Illinois, has accepted a clerkship in Grenoble's store at Spring Mills.

Messrs. Wilmer Malin and Harry Hale have returned from their hunting expedition to York county, bringing with them 53 splendid quail.

Mr. John Kirchmeyer, who just resigned his position as book-keeper for Valentines Store, Co., "Limited," departed for Williamsport on the 10 a. m train on Friday.

Mr. James Murphy, of Renovo, one the partners in Valentines Store Company, "Limited," spent part of Monday, the 5th, in this place, departing on the 8:55 p. m. train.

Representative Henry Meyer was in town last Friday and, in company Friday morning made matters worse, with that hopeful Democrat, Dr. Miles Kirk, and also fortified by a good dinner at one of Bellefonte's excellent hotels, he sought and found consolation for the recent defeat which the $10 per day men produced.

—The following from the Williamsport Sun and Banner will be read with regret by many of our readers as the subject of it is we believe a native of this county and is widely known:

We are sorry to learn that Hon W. R Bierly, formerly of this city, is lying very low with typhoid fever at his new home in Texas. In connection with his own sickness, two of his children have also been and are now very ill. Mr. Bierly was taken down on or about the 29th of September and he has not been able to attend to any business since that date. According to a letter received by Captain Gilmore he was doing a good business up to the date of his illness. All his friends here unite in wishing him a speedy return to good health.

—The Republican hero in Centre county during the late elections was undoubtedly Christian Dale, Sr., of College township, who came within 485 votes of turning the big Democratic majority in his favor—and that, too, in face of the fact that Dr. Smith, his opponent, had gained temporary prestige by his position on the bench during the late term of court. It is infinitely creditable to Mr. Dale, and a few more such excellent nominations by Republicans, coupled with faithful effort on the part of the candidates, will make Centre a Republican county.

—Dr. J. W. Swartz' residence on Penn street is fast approaching completion. It is now under roof.
